

2024-2025

2024 - 2025 ANNENBERG DOCTORAL STUDENT HANDBOOK

Welcome to the Annenberg School of Communication!

The Annenberg School at USC was created in 1971 by an endowment from Walter H. Annenberg and continues a long tradition of communication study at USC. In 1880, the year it was founded, the University offered a course in elocution. A College of Oratory was established in 1895, and became the School of Speech in 1921. Its first master's degree was awarded in 1924. The first doctoral degree in speech was conferred in 1935. The School, eventually placed within the USC College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences, became known as the Department of Communication Arts and Sciences.

The present configuration came together between 1994 and 1996 when the Annenberg School merged with the Department of Communication Arts and Sciences to become the new School of Communication. The School of Communication, together with the School of Journalism, constitutes the Annenberg School for Communication and Journalism.

The Annenberg doctoral program has evolved to combine and sustain USC's excellence in inquiry, research, teaching, and scholarship in the field of communication.

The 2024-2025 Annenberg Doctoral Student Handbook supersedes previous Doctoral Student Handbooks. A student's curricular requirements are linked to the Handbook in use at time of acceptance to the program. Any student may elect to adopt program requirements detailed in later versions where indicated. Students may use either the requirements from their entry year or from a later year, but they cannot combine the two.

Part One:

Advisement & Guidance

PART ONE: ADVISEMENT & GUIDANCE

Appropriate advisement and guidance by both faculty and peers is crucial for successful doctoral work. Students are encouraged to actively seek advice from their professors and fellow students in shaping a program of studies.

Mentors and Advisors

When new students enter the program, they are assigned a faculty mentor, selected by the Director of the Annenberg Doctoral Program, as well as 1 or 2 student "buddies," assigned by the Annenberg Communication Graduate Student Association (ACGSA). Faculty and peers help new students adjust to life in Los Angeles and at USC. They can help with answers about housing, areas of study, administrative processes, and research foci.

First Year Advising

All first year students are formally advised by the Director of the Annenberg Doctoral Program (Professor Hernan Galperin) until their successful completion of the screening process. The Director's advice is both substantive, assisting students in defining and refining their course of study, and technical, ensuring that students are satisfying program requirements in a timely manner. The Director's approval is required for students to transfer credits, obtain department approval ("d clearance") to register, and for assorted petitions.

Faculty mentors assigned to first year students will acquaint and guide them through the initial year. Mentors will meet with students on a regular basis and will assist the student in making decisions on course selection, research groups, conferences, and publications.

Students are strongly encouraged to acquaint themselves with the faculty as a whole, with an eye toward choosing their faculty advisors and guidance committees.

Subsequent Advising

Following successful screening at the end of the first year, the primary advising responsibility shifts to the student's advisor and guidance committee. Students are required to select an advisor and guidance committee no later than the end of the fall semester of their second year.

Primary technical advising responsibility remains with the Director of the Doctoral Program. Students will need to obtain the approval of their advisor and the Director of the Doctoral Program on the Doctoral Committee Advisor form. Once the required signatures are obtained, the paperwork will be processed by Anne Marie Campian, PhD Academic Advisor.

Screening & Annual Activity Report

Screening

Student progress is carefully monitored by School of Communication faculty. Screening of first year doctoral students is focused primarily on academic performance and achievements broadly defined (course work, intellectual engagement, scholarly presentations and publications, etc.). The screening process is conducted at the end of the first year by a committee that includes the faculty who taught that year's core courses, the Director of the School of Communication, and the Director of the Doctoral Program.

In order to be screened, first year students must have completed no fewer than 16 and no more than 24 units, including the four required core courses: COMM 525, 526, 550, and 552. After screening, students will be either permitted to continue or required to discontinue the program. Students may only pass screening and enter the second year of the program once they have completed all coursework in which they have enrolled. Letters reporting the official results of the screening process will be sent to both students and their mentors by the Director of the Doctoral Program in early summer.

Advisor

Upon successful passage of the screening procedure, students should select a faculty advisor and form an Annenberg Doctoral Guidance Committee. At minimum, the student must declare a preliminary three-person committee, consisting of a primary advisor and two additional members, by the end of their third semester.

Registration for classes for the spring semester of the second year will be withheld until this is formally established. Any late registration fees or other penalties resulting from this policy are the responsibility of the student

Annual Activity Report & Annual Review of Progress

Each spring, all students are asked to submit an Annual Activity Report and updated Curriculum Vita (CV). The report should include accomplishments for the year, identification of advisor and committee members, graduate assistant activities, and specific plans for the upcoming year.

The USC Career Center provides tips on writing a CV on their website.

These materials will be evaluated by the Director of Doctoral Studies and by each student's mentor/advisor. Students are expected to discuss progress and plans with their advisors.

Instructions for accessing and submitting the activity report will be distributed via email each spring.

Academic Forms

Academic forms can be found online or obtained from Anne Marie Campian.

Committees

Members of students' committees will advise them through the processes of their post-screening course work, qualifying examinations, and dissertations.

Annenberg Doctoral Guidance Committee

After students have successfully passed screening and selected their advisors, they will form their Annenberg Doctoral Guidance Committees. Students work closely with their guidance committees (particularly with their faculty advisors) in selecting advanced course work, shaping research, and preparing for their qualifying examinations. The guidance committee consists of the student's advisor and two additional Annenberg faculty members.

Changing Advisors and/or Committee Members

Over time, a student's interests and commitments may change, resulting in the need for an alternate advisor.

To initiate changes in advisor, contact the Director of the Doctoral Program. Committee changes should be discussed with your advisor with requests and notifications made in a timely fashion. To complete the process for either a change of advisor or committee member, update and submit the Guidance Committee and Advisor Form to Anne Marie Campian.

Emeriti Faculty on Committees

Participation on doctoral committees by emeriti faculty is permitted except when restricted by University-wide policy. Emeriti faculty may not serve as a sole chair for a doctoral committee but may serve as a co-chair when the other co-chair meets all University requirements for a given committee.

Composition of the Qualifying Examination Committee

A complete Qualifying Examination Committee is composed of a minimum of five faculty, either tenured/tenure track or RTPC (research, teaching, practice, and clinical):

- At least three members must be from the Annenberg School of Communication.
- At least three members must be tenured or tenure track, including the chair, who must be tenured.
- An outside (non-School of Communication) member from a different PhD-granting department at USC is strongly recommended by the faculty but not required. A faculty member from the School of Journalism may serve as an outside member. For outside faculty the judgment of qualification to serve will be made by the dean of the school of the outside member's primary appointment.
- The committee may include a faculty member from an institution other than USC, called an "external member." This is different than the "outside member," which is a USC faculty member from outside the School of Communication. See below for instructions on how to obtain approval for an external member.
- It is acceptable to appoint co-chairs for your committee. At least one co-chair must be tenured (see second point above).

Typically, the members of students' Doctoral Guidance Committees substantially overlap with the members of their Qualifying Examination Committees.

Any faculty member who serves on PhD dissertation and qualifying exam committees must have a professional profile that demonstrates academic impact on the field in significant, measurable ways.

The full committee is typically formed at least six months prior to the date for the qualifying examination. This gives students and faculty time to discuss and define examination areas, develop reading lists, and formulate examination questions.

The committee must be formally established at least thirty days prior to the beginning of the student's qualifying exam by filing the Graduate School Appointment or Change of Qualifying Exam Committee form.

Should the student wish to replace one or more qualifying examination committee members, they may do so by updating the Appointment or Change of Qualifying Exam Committee Form.

Dissertation Committee

The Dissertation Committee is formed after the student successfully completes the qualifying examination. The dissertation committee consists of at least three and no more than five faculty members, who are either tenured/tenure track or RTPC (research, teaching, practice, and clinical):

- All committees must have a majority of members from the student's home program (School of Communication).
- The chair must have an appointment in the student's program.
- The chair must be tenured.
- An outside (non-School of Communication) member from a different PhD-granting department at USC is strongly recommended by the Annenberg faculty, but not required. For outside faculty the judgment of qualification to serve will be made by the dean of the school of the outside member's primary appointment.
- The committee may include a faculty member from an institution other than USC, called an "external member." This is different than the "outside member," which is a USC faculty member from outside the School of Communication. See below for instructions on how to obtain approval for an external member.
- It is acceptable to appoint co-chairs for your committee. At least one co-chair must be tenured (see second point above).
- Emeriti faculty appointed to a qualifying exam committee when they were full-time faculty at USC may continue to serve on the dissertation committee until the student has graduated.
- A former USC faculty member who was appointed to the qualifying exam committee while they were a full-time USC faculty member may continue to serve on the dissertation committee until the student has graduated.

Any faculty member who serves on PhD dissertation and qualifying exam committees must have a professional profile that demonstrates academic impact on the field in significant, measurable ways.

Typically, members of the dissertation committee have previously served on the student's guidance and qualifying examination committees. The dissertation committee advises and approves the written dissertation and administers the oral defense.

The committee must be formally established by filing the Graduate School Appointment or Change of Dissertation Committee form.

Should the student wish to replace one or more dissertation committee members, they may do so by updating the Appointment or Change of Dissertation Committee Form.

Request for Approval of External Member on Qualifying Exam or Dissertation Committee

To obtain approval for an external (non-USC) committee member, the student must first petition this with a clear, detailed summary (one page letter to the committee chair and Director of Doctoral Studies, with a cc to Anne Marie) that explains the need for the inclusion of this faculty member. The final decision will be determined by the chair of the committee and the Director of Doctoral Studies.

The CV of any external member must be uploaded along with the Appointment of Committee form and will become part of the official record.

Request for Remote Participation at Qualifying Examination or Dissertation Defense

While in-person participation is highly encouraged, if remote participation is necessary for a committee member, it may be approved as long as both student and chair agree. Please notify Anne Marie if any committee members will participate remotely in a defense.

The USC Graduate School guidelines for remote participation are as follows:

Remote Participation during the Qualifying Exam

For the PhD qualifying examination, all committee members may participate remotely. Remote participation of committee members should be indicated in writing on the Report on Qualifying Examination.

Remote Participation during the Dissertation Defense

For the dissertation defense, the committee chair and the student must be present, unless the relevant dean and the Vice Provost for Academic Programs provide written permission for remote participation. Programs should contact the Graduate School well in advance of the defense date to request a General Petition that will record the remote participation of either the student or chair. Members who participate remotely will be noted on the dissertation Approval to Submit forms.

If you are requesting remote participation for your dissertation defense, please notify Anne Marie Campian at least one month prior to the defense date so she can request approval from the Graduate School.

Booking Annenberg Room for Defense

To request a room for your quals or dissertation defense, please email asctech@usc.edu and cc the following people:

Jim Yoder jyoder@usc.edu
Patricia Carvajal pcarvaja@usc.edu
Sarah Holterman holterma@usc.edu
Anne Marie Campian campian@usc.edu
Val Ramirez vr79969@usc.edu
Hector Amaya hectoram@usc.edu
Hernan Galperin hgalperi@usc.edu

Please include the date and time of your defense, as well as the preferred room, if known. Please also indicate if you will need hybrid capabilities for committee members who will be participating remotely.

Part Two:

Degree Requirements

PART TWO: DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

The Annenberg School's MA and PhD degrees are awarded under the jurisdiction of the USC Graduate School. Refer to the Graduate School section of the current USC Catalogue for full requirements, guidelines, and policies.

Doctor of Philosophy in Communication

PhD General Requirements

The student is required to complete a minimum of 68 graduate units of coursework (normally 17 courses) plus a minimum of 4 units (794a and 794b at 2 units each) of required dissertation registrations, totaling 72 units. Six specific courses (COMM 525, 526, 550, and 552 plus a minimum of two dissertation writing courses, COMM 794a and b) are required of all students. Additionally, students must pass the qualifying examination, write an approved prospectus, and write and defend a dissertation.

Course Requirements

The Core Curriculum (16 units)

The core curriculum consists of four seminars required of all first-year doctoral students, two in theories and two in methods:

- COMM 525 Humanistic and Social Scientific Approaches to Human Communication I
- COMM 526 Humanistic and Social Scientific Approaches to Human Communication II
- COMM 550 Quantitative Research Methods in Communication
- COMM 552 Qualitative Research Methods in Communication

Satisfactory completion of the core curriculum during the first year is necessary in order to be successfully screened and permitted to continue in the program.

Area of Concentration (12 units)

Students specialize in one of seven concentrations by completing a minimum of three courses (12 units) in one of the following:

- Groups, Organizations & Networks
- Health Communication & Social Dynamics
- Information, Political Economy & Entertainment
- Media, Culture & Community
- New Media & Technology
- Political Economy of Global Communication
- Rhetoric, Politics & Publics

Minor Area (8 units)

Students must minor in a second concentration by completing a minimum of two courses (8 units) in one of the seven concentrations above.

Cognate Area (8 units)

Students must take an approved cognate elective program of study in which at least 8 units are taken in a related field at USC outside the Annenberg School such as American Studies, Psychology, Political Science, Cinema, Computer Science, etc.

Elective Courses (24 units)

These units may be taken inside the School of Communication or in related fields in other departments at USC. A maximum of 12 credits from previous graduate work may be applied to the degree with approval.

Dissertation (4 units minimum)

Students must enroll in at least two semesters of COMM 794 after passing their qualifying exam.

A full list of current COMM courses can be found in the USC Catalogue.

Special Credit Concerns

Transfer Credit

Students entering the program with a master's degree may, with permission, apply part of their previous graduate course work to the PhD degree. A maximum of twelve units may be applied.

Request a Graduate Transfer Credit Report (GTCR) from the University. Official transcripts are required to complete this evaluation. Contact Anne Marie Campian after the GTCR is complete and eligible transfer work is made available on your student record.

Students who enter the PhD program after earning a master's degree at the Annenberg School of Communication may exceed this limit, subject to the approval of their guidance committee and the Director of Doctoral Studies.

Before making transfer credit requests, students should meet with their advisors to map out required areas, requests for substitution, and strategies for completing requirements.

PhD Credit for Annenberg Master's-Level Courses

Students who wish to apply Annenberg master's-level courses for PhD credit must negotiate a contract with the instructor in advance certifying that course materials are appropriate to doctoral status. Ordinarily, doctoral students will be required to complete additional work above and beyond that required of master's students such as an appropriate research paper. Students normally may count no more than two such courses toward their doctoral degree requirements, and no more than one in their concentrations.

COMM 610 and 620 Courses

COMM 620: Studies in Communication Theory provides a rotating selection of courses that offer studies of advanced, specialized interest areas in communication theory and research. A maximum of 12 units of COMM 620 may be applied to the program. Two of the three may be applied to a concentration, the third as an elective.

COMM 610: Studies in Rhetorical Theory offers a similar selection of courses under the areas of rhetorical theory and criticism. A maximum of 12 units of COMM 610 may be applied to the program.

Independent Study and Directed Research

Students may take a maximum of 8 units of COMM 675 Independent Study and/or COMM 790 Directed Research.

COMM 675 Independent Study

Students must prepare a detailed syllabus with a full-time faculty member of the School of Communication and must have it approved by the Director of Doctoral Studies and the Director of the School of Communication.

A student enrolled in COMM 675 is expected to produce a final paper that critically examines the existing literature in a relevant field of study. A student completing this type of work should enroll in 2 units of COMM 675. Student is expected to meet with the supervising faculty member at least once every other week during the enrolled semester.

COMM 790 Directed Research

Students must prepare a research proposal with a full-time faculty member of the School of Communication and must have it approved by the Director of Doctoral Studies and the Director of the School of Communication.

A student enrolled in COMM 790 is expected to complete significant primary research resulting in a final paper that contributes new knowledge to a relevant field of student. A student completing this type of work should enroll in 4 units of COMM 790. Student is expected to meet with the supervising faculty member on a weekly basis.

If you plan to take COMM 675 or COMM 790, you must submit the form with proposal/syllabus to Anne Marie Campian no later than three weeks prior to the first day of classes in order for the proposal to be reviewed. If submitted later than that, enrollment cannot be guaranteed.

Course Enrollment

Regular and Reduced Course Loads

The School of Communication defines full time enrollment as two to three courses (8-12 units) per semester, although the University defines minimum full time enrollment for graduate students as 6 units.

In order to make good progress toward degree completion within the available years of support, students normally are expected to take three courses (usually 12 units) in a semester. On occasion, students may have sound reasons to take a reduced load. Please discuss your course load with your advisor, the Director of Doctoral Studies, and the PhD Academic Advisor.

Graduate Assistants should be sure not to drop below 6 units at any time, as doing so will terminate their full time student status and disqualify them from receiving student aid, including stipends, health coverage, and tuition. Exceptions include enrollment in COMM 594 Thesis, COMM 794 Dissertation, or GRSC 800 or 810. Please see the University's GA handbook for details.

Incompletes

An incomplete (IN) grade is assigned when coursework is not completed because of documented illness or other emergency occurring after the twelfth week of the semester (or twelfth week equivalent for any course scheduled for less than 15 weeks). Students seeking an incomplete must submit (with instructor's approval) an Assignment of an Incomplete (IN) and Requirements for Completion form. The instructor will obtain this form.

University policy states that grades of IN must be completed within one calendar year from the date the IN is received. If not completed within the designated time, marks of IN automatically become marks of IX (expired incomplete) with the exception of thesis, dissertation, and non-letter graded courses, and are calculated in the GPA as a grade of F (zero grade points).

Please work with the course instructor to determine what work must be done in order to complete the course and turn the IN into a letter grade.

Any student receiving an IN will be sent a warning letter from the department. If the IN is not completed within the University's designated time, the student may be dismissed from the program.

The qualifying exam may not be taken until all grades of IN have been completed.

Please see the USC Registrar's website for complete details on University policies regarding incompletes.

Leaves

When planning for any type of leave from the program, please notify the department as soon as possible and take into account any prior commitments you have made.

Leave of Absence

Requesting a leave of absence is initiated by obtaining approval from the Director of the Doctoral Program, the Director of the School of Communication, and the student's faculty advisor. Student should send an email to Hernan Galperin, Sarah Holterman, and Anne Marie Campian, with a cc to their advisor.

The maximum period of absence is four semesters total (fall/spring), after which students must continue with a full program of study, or withdraw from the Doctoral Program. After withdrawing, any continued study at the Annenberg School requires students to reapply to the Graduate School.

During a leave of absence, a student may not enroll in classes, be funded as a GA or fellow, or receive any other funding, including health insurance.

Approved Health Leave

A voluntary health leave of absence is a temporary and voluntary leave from the University due to a student's health needs. This leave is available when a student's health condition significantly interferes with a student's ability to function successfully within the University's programs.

Doctoral students at USC may take one semester of approved health leave in which they are funded with a stipend at the same level as a 50% GA, regular health insurance premiums, and one unit of tuition, which will cover the student's required enrollment in GRSC 803 while on leave.

Enrollment in GRSC 803 ensures continued access to health insurance and the monthly stipend during the health leave.

To begin the process of requesting an approved health leave, notify your advisor, as well as Sarah Holterman, Anne Marie Campian, and Hernan Galperin.

Then, make an appointment to speak with a Health Leave Coordinator. More information can be found here.

Your Health Leave Coordinator will work with you on documentation and will also coordinate with the department regarding an academic plan and your return to the program after your leave.

Parental Leave

The following information on parental leave is taken from the USC Graduate School website:

PhD students at USC who meet the following criteria are eligible for a one-semester parental leave:

- The student is pregnant, or is the primary caregiver of their newborn child or adopted child under six years of age;
- The student has completed at least one semester in their PhD program and is making good progress;
- The student was admitted with an offer letter for a four- or five-year funding package consisting of support through any combination of teaching assistantship, research assistantship, and fellowship.

Parental leave may be taken during the semester in which the child is born or adopted, or during the semester immediately following.

A student on approved parental leave receives the base graduate assistant stipend from the Graduate School for one semester. Individual schools are expected to top off the base stipend to the level of the stipend stipulated in the student's offer letter and to cover the cost of the student's USC student health insurance coverage and student health center fee.

Students must enroll in GRSC 804 to ensure continued access to health insurance and the monthly stipend during the parental leave.

While on parental leave, students are not eligible for federal financial aid. Students with loans should consult with the Office of Financial Aid before beginning parental leave.

International students should discuss the parental leave with the Office of International Services to be sure there are no unforeseen issues related to their visa status.

Applications for parental leave should be filed with the Graduate School at least three months prior to the anticipated start date.

The process is initiated by notifying Sarah Holterman, who will submit a Request for Parental Leave petition to the Graduate School on your behalf. Please note that the following items are required for the petition:

- Statement from the student that they will be the child's primary caregiver
- One of the following: a verification of pregnancy signed by a doctor in the US (available at the USC Student Health Center); a birth certificate for the infant child; or a statement of adoption from an adoption agency

Making Good Progress Toward Degree

In this handbook and in many University guidelines, you will see references to "making good progress toward degree." Because the Annenberg School of Communication admits PhD students on a five-year funding package, to make good academic progress indicates that a student will finish their degree within those five years of funding.

There are several guideposts that indicate good progress, including:

- A student is required to complete a minimum of 68 graduate units before taking their qualifying exams. They will then take a minimum of 4 units of dissertation registrations, totaling 72 units. In order to complete the required 68 units of graduate course work, students are normally expected to take three courses (12 units) per semester.
- Appendix I of this handbook lays out a five year plan for finishing the PhD degree. By the end of the fall semester of the fourth year, a student must have completed the following items: qualifying examination process completed; dissertation advisor selected; dissertation committee formed; and prospectus successfully defended. If these four items are not completed by the end of the fall semester, students may no longer be considered to be making satisfactory progress toward degree.

• Removing any grades of IN within the University-mandated timeline.

If a student is not making good academic progress toward degree, they may receive a warning letter which will indicate steps they need to take in order to remain a student in good academic standing within the PhD program.

Students are encouraged to work closely with their advisors and other faculty members to monitor academic progress.

PhD Qualifying Examination & Dissertation Requirements

The following requirements must be met as part of the qualifying examination and dissertation process:

Dissertation Prospectus

The dissertation prospectus is a document that articulates the dissertation project, methodology, justification, and outline of chapters. The prospectus should be completed in a process that runs parallel to, or in conjunction with, the qualifying exam. During the semester prior to taking a qualifying exam, a student, in collaboration with their advisor, will choose one of three options:

- 1. The prospectus will be distributed and discussed with the committee before the qualifying examination.
- 2. The prospectus will be handed in at the time the written portion of the qualifying exam is submitted to the committee and then discussed as part of the oral exam. For this option, the prospectus must be approved by the quals committee in order for students to pass their qualifying exam.
- 3. The prospectus will be distributed and examined no more than 90 days after the defense. If the student completes the qualifying exam during the spring semester such that the 90 day deadline falls during summer recess, the dissertation prospectus must be submitted within 90 days and then defended and approved by the committee no later than the end of the third week of the fall semester.

A student must have an approved prospectus on file to be considered for a standalone teaching assignment.

Please see Appendix IV for additional tips and guidelines on preparing the prospectus.

Qualifying Examination

The qualifying exam covers the student's primary and secondary areas of concentration and is intended as a test of the student's mastery of an intellectual field of inquiry and is not simply a test of coursework. Consequently, students should expect to be tested on material beyond what was covered in their seminars, and should consult carefully with their committee members regarding the reading lists for which they will be held accountable.

The qualifying exam is usually taken in the second semester of the third year and no later than the first semester of the fourth year, following completion of all required coursework, including removing all grades of incomplete (IN).

The Appointment of Committee and Request to Take the PhD Qualifying Examination forms must be approved by the student's advisor and by the Director of Doctoral Studies at least 30 days prior to the beginning of the examination, that is, the date on which students begin writing the examination. It is recommended that students obtain approval and submit these forms in the semester prior to taking their qualifying exam. These forms can be obtained from Anne Marie Campian and should be returned to her once they are signed.

With the permission of their advisor and guidance committee, students may, in some cases, take their exams concurrently during the semester in which they are completing their coursework. See Appendix II for directions on arranging your exam, including timeline.

Written Qualifying Exam

The open book exam should take a minimum of 10 consecutive days or a maximum of 14 consecutive days. Regardless of how you manage your own writing schedule within that block of time, all students will have a maximum of 14 consecutive days to complete the exam. This decision should be made by student and advisor, and must be confirmed in advance of the exam period with Anne Marie Campian.

Students may write at home or at another location of their choosing. Answers should be typed and conform to an appropriate professional style manual (APA, MLA, etc.) specified by the committee.

Students may start writing on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday.

Oral Defense of the Qualifying Exam

Students are responsible for scheduling the oral defense of their written exam at a time convenient for all members of their guidance committee. The oral defense is normally conducted within two weeks of the completion of the written exam. The Graduate School requires that the defense be completed within sixty days of the beginning of the written exam. The written exam must be passed before the oral exam can take place.

The oral defense typically lasts two hours. Committee members ask questions that focus on the student's written answers, but may cover any topic relevant to the field of communication. A successful defense requires a unanimous decision by the committee.

For the PhD qualifying examination, all committee members may participate remotely. Remote participation of committee members should be indicated in writing on the Report on Qualifying Examination.

Unsuccessful Defense of the Qualifying Exam

If a written examination or oral defense is judged by an examination committee to be unsuccessful, the reexamination must be completed no sooner than one month and no later than six months after the date on which the first doctoral qualifying examination was administered.

If the student is allowed to take the qualifying exam for a second time, a new Request to Take the PhD Qualifying Examination form must be obtained from Anne Marie Campian and completed at least thirty days prior to the re-examination and the student must be appropriately enrolled at USC during the semester in which the re-examination is to be taken. Students may not take the qualifying examination more than twice.

Report on PhD Qualifying Examination Form

Immediately after the oral defense, a Report on PhD Qualifying Examination form must be submitted to Anne Marie Campian regardless of the outcome, successful or unsuccessful. She will file the form with the Graduate School within forty-eight hours of the completion of the oral defense. The form can be obtained from Anne Marie Campian.

At the conclusion of a successful defense, the student should form their dissertation committee by obtaining the proposed committee members' signatures on the Appointment of Committee form. The completed and signed form should be returned to Anne Marie Campian.

Conferral of the MA in Communication

Students who successfully complete the qualifying exam will be awarded an MA in Communication. Anne Marie Campian will verify that the student has completed the requirements for the degree and will enter that information in the Student Information System.

Doctoral Dissertation

The dissertation is an original research project contributing to knowledge about human communication and should demonstrate a high level of competence in methodologies of scholarly inquiry. The School of Communication requires the dissertation be written in either APA or Chicago style.

Students should ideally devote (at minimum) their full fifth year of support to the dissertation's completion, before leaving school for the workplace.

After passing the qualifying exam, students must register for two units of COMM 794 in each semester, excluding summers, until the dissertation has been approved. A minimum of four dissertations units of 794 are required. Four units is also the maximum number of 794 dissertation units that may be applied to the 72-unit degree requirement. However, the student must continue enrolling in COMM 794 each semester until the degree is conferred.

Please see Appendix V for more information on alternate dissertation formats.

Defense of Dissertation

Dissertations are defended in a formal meeting with the student's dissertation committee. Students are expected to provide a draft to each of their committee members to review, in anticipation of facilitating changes prior to production of the final manuscript.

For the dissertation defense, the committee chair and the student must be physically present, unless the relevant dean and the Vice Provost for Academic Programs provide written permission for remote participation. Programs should contact the Graduate School well in advance of the defense date to request a General Petition that will record the remote participation of either the student or chair. Members who participate remotely will be noted on the dissertation Approval to Submit forms.

If you wish to request approval for remote participation, please contact Anne Marie Campian at least one month prior to your scheduled dissertation defense.

Dissertation defenses are announced publically and are open to the scholarly community, as stated in the USC Catalogue: "[...] the oral examination is open to the general university community [...]."A successful defense requires a unanimous decision by the committee.

Dissertation Submission

Dissertations are submitted online through Thesis Center. Guidelines and deadlines for submitting the dissertation can be found on the USC Graduate School's website.

Thesis Center allows faculty to sign electronically on a secure website. Once students have created a profile in Thesis Center, they can track the progress of their submission form.

The USC Graduate School Thesis Coordinator can be contacted for questions about the dissertation submission process at thesisdc@usc.edu.

Conferral of the PhD

Participation in USC commencement exercises is restricted to students who have a scheduled dissertation defense of June 1 or earlier.

Participation in the 2025 Annenberg PhD hooding ceremony and the Annenberg School's 2025 satellite commencement ceremony requires that a student has a scheduled dissertation defense of June 1, 2025 or earlier. A student may only participate in the hooding ceremony once.

The actual degree conferral date is based on which deadlines a student meets. Degrees are conferred by the University three times per year: in May (spring), August (summer), and December (fall). The Graduate School's submission timelines can be found here.

Master of Arts in Communication

This option may only be selected if a doctoral student wishes to leave the program with an MA degree prior to the qualifying exam, rather than continuing in the program toward a PhD.

Permission to take an MA degree with thesis or comprehensive exam can be obtained only by application to both the student's advisor and to the Director of the Doctoral Program. A student should also notify Anne Marie Campian and Sarah Holterman.

Individuals seeking the Master of Arts (MA) in Communication are expected to acquire and demonstrate a general knowledge of human communication, including humanistic and social scientific approaches.

The program, arranged in consultation with the student's advisor and the Director of the Doctoral Program, provides two options: a degree with comprehensive examination or degree with thesis.

- A degree with a comprehensive examination requires a minimum of 32 units (normally eight courses), including core courses COMM 525, 526, 550, and 552, and four electives.
- A degree with thesis requires successful completion of the four core courses listed above, three electives, and four units of COMM 594ab Master's Thesis.

No more than two approved 400-level courses may be applied to a student's MA program and a maximum of four semester units with grades of B or better may be accepted by transfer from another institution of higher learning. The minimum acceptable GPA for successful completion of this program is 3.0.

The majority of students who opt to graduate with an MA choose the comprehensive examination option:

- A student's MA committee must be comprised of a minimum of three faculty members.
- Two committee members write questions; the third serves as reader.

- The student is expected to write on two days for a total of six hours (three hours each day). This is a closed book exam. The two committee members writing questions provide them to Anne Marie Campian, who will send them to the student on their first day of writing.
- Student may start writing on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday.
- Each response should be approximately five pages long/around 1,600 1,700 words.
- The two written responses are read by the three committee members, who then confer to determine if the student has passed.
- The student does not have to do an oral defense of the MA exam.
- Once the committee determines that the student has passed, they will notify Anne Marie Campian, who records this.

If a student chooses this path and has their MA degree conferred in spring, they will be ineligible for PhD funding during the following summer, as they will no longer be an enrolled student at USC. (I.e., if a student has an MA degree conferred in May 2025 without plans to continue in the PhD program in the fall, they will not receive any funding in June or July 2025.)

Part Three:

Funding & Support

PART THREE: FUNDING & SUPPORT

All funding information is valid for Academic Year 2024–2025 at the time of this writing.

The Annenberg School provides funding to all doctoral students for up to five years, contingent on satisfactory academic progress. Funding for a sixth year or beyond may be requested but is never guaranteed. Students should plan to complete the program in five years.

Funding packages include:

- Up to 12 units of tuition per semester
- Payment of all required health care fees (access to University health services as well as medical and dental insurance premiums)
- An annual stipend of at least $40,500 for students in years one through five (paid monthly)
- Support for conference travel in years one through five
- Support for dissertation research upon reaching candidacy

For any questions on funding, please contact Sarah Holterman directly (holterma@usc.edu).

Types of Appointments

All funded Annenberg PhD students are appointed as Graduate Assistants or Fellows.

Fellowships

Students awarded fellowships are not given work assignments but are expected to become involved in the academic life of the School both through formal and informal arrangements with faculty and other students.

During the first year, students are supported by the Graduate School as Annenberg Graduate Fellows.

Advanced students (years four and five) generally have the opportunity each year to apply for competitively awarded fellowships from the Graduate School.

Students may also apply for externally funded fellowships.

Graduate Assistantships

Starting in their second year, students are funded as Graduate Assistants (GAs). Students who serve as GAs will be assigned to Teaching and/or Research Assistant positions (TAs and/or RAs) or, in a few instances, as Assistant Lecturers (ALs), who teach standalone classes as the instructor of record.

In almost all cases, GAs are given what are called 50% assignments, meaning they are expected to devote an average of 20 hours per week to their assignment. In many cases, students are given two 25% assignments (one TA and one RA) for a semester, which combined will not exceed an average of 20 hours per week.

GA assignments are made by the director's office, in coordination with a student representative from ACGSA. Preferences for assignments are solicited from both students and faculty for each semester's assignments.

Students are encouraged to seek experience with both teaching and research to be competitive in the academic job market. The Annenberg School is committed to providing a wide range of experiences.

Students are expected to serve as a TA for a minimum of 1 semester during their time in the program.

Assistant Lecturer Assignments (Standalone Courses)

Students may apply for Assistant Lectureship (AL) assignments to serve as the primary instructor for an undergraduate course once they have passed their qualifying examination and defended their prospectus.

Assignment as Assistant Lecturer is subject to the number of courses available each semester, a student's record of achievement as a TA, and a student's experience and ability to teach specific topics or areas of study.

Students applying for AL positions are expected to have served as a TA in an undergraduate course with discussion sections.

A call for AL applications will be sent to the commgrad list each semester.

Students teaching a standalone summer course will be compensated with a separate summer GA stipend in addition to their base annual stipend.

Fifth Year Spring Assistant Lecturer

Students in their fifth year of the program may apply for the opportunity to design and teach their own course. Students must be making timely progress to the degree, have an outstanding record of coursework, and have strong student evaluations and faculty recommendations. As with all AL positions, students must have completed their qualifying exam and have an approved prospectus in order to teach.

Students applying for these AL positions are expected to have served as a TA in an undergraduate course with discussion sections and to have taught at least one existing COMM course as an AL.

One student will be chosen to design and teach a COMM 400 Seminar in Communication course in the spring of their fifth year. During that semester, the student will be funded as a 50% AL. We will also offer an additional stipend of $500 to assist with the development of the course.

A call for applications is sent out in early fall each year.

Preparing to Apply for AL Assignments

Things to consider if you plan to apply to teach a standalone course in your fourth and/or fifth year:

- Assignments are made based on available courses in a given semester, as well as a student's experience as a TA and their ability to teach on specific topics or areas of study. Ideal candidates for AL assignments will have varied experience as a TA (including leading discussion sections) and will identify classes which match their own subject matter expertise.
- Make sure to get varied experience in your second and third years as a TA, both as a grader and as a discussion section leader. It is very important to get experience in the classroom as a TA (especially leading sections) before applying to teach a standalone. Request TA assignments that will allow you to accomplish this. Try not to request the same TA course every semester.
- Discuss with your advisor the pros and cons of fellowships. While they can be extremely helpful, receiving a fellowship means that you will not be able to TA during the duration of the award.

- A handful of standalones are offered to PhD students each semester. These are existing COMM undergraduate courses and will be announced with the call for applications each semester. The opportunity to design and teach a standalone course will be offered at least once per year for fifth year students (see above). Teaching opportunities are always dependent on School of Communication course needs.
- If you wish to apply to create and teach your own standalone during your fifth year, please work with your advisor and/or other faculty members to develop a syllabus. You may want to look at class schedules from previous semesters to see the full scope of undergraduate courses offered. What will appeal to upper level undergraduate Comm majors? Does your idea for a class overlap at all with existing courses that are taught? Something new, innovative, and topical will appeal to undergrads. Think about the course title, too!
- Students interested in a career in teaching may want to complete training through the USC Center for Excellence in Teaching's Future Faculty Teaching Institute. Sign up for CET's mailing list to receive information.

TA Training

All students must complete TA training. The School of Communication will hold a mandatory training for second year students in mid-August each year. There will also be at least one additional mandatory session during the fall semester for second years. All students are also encouraged to attend pedagogy workshops throughout the year.

Before beginning any GA assignment, international students are required by the University to pass a test of spoken English language proficiency. The International Teaching Assistant (ITA) Exam is administered by USC's American Language Institute. If not approved by USC, students will be asked to take supplementary courses on campus before teaching.

Reduced Work Load Exception (Qualifying Exam Semester)

Work responsibilities are reduced by half, to a 25% assignment (an average of ten hours per week), for the term during which students are preparing to take their qualifying exams. The student will still receive 50% position compensation. Students should take care to arrange this exemption carefully, as it may only be used once. It must be used during the academic year in which a student takes their qualifying exams and may not be used past a student's fifth year in the program.

Sixth Year Funding

GA funding for a sixth year or beyond may be considered in specific situations but is never guaranteed. A student should plan with their advisor to finish the program in five years.

Other Funding Opportunities

Advanced Fellowships

The USC Graduate School generally offers fellowships for advanced PhD students each year. Application guidelines and deadlines are distributed during the fall semester.

If a student receives an advanced fellowship, this year of funding replaces one year of GA funding. It does not provide an "extra" year of funding unless it is received in a student's sixth year.

External Fellowships

Many students choose to apply for external (non-USC) fellowships. An external fellowship replaces the corresponding number of years of GA funding. I.e., if you receive an external fellowship for years two and three, you will then have two years of GA funding remaining after the fellowship ends: years four and five.

The Graduate School offers a proposal review clinic every fall for students who are applying for external fellowships, as well as online fellowship courses through Blackboard.

The Office of the Provost provides an Awards and Fellowships Database and in Appendix IX you will find a list of fellowships Annenberg doctoral students have applied to and/or received in the past.

If you have applied for or been awarded an external fellowship, please notify Sarah Holterman.

Graduate School External Fellowship Boot Camp - Fall

The USC Graduate School holds a fellowship boot camp each August, which is open to incoming PhD students and rising second year PhD students who plan to apply for one of the following external fellowships:

- National Science Foundation, Graduate Research Fellowship Program
- Ford Foundation Pre-Doctoral Fellowship

Please check your eligibility for these two fellowships before applying for the boot camp. Calls for boot camp applications will be forwarded by the department.

Graduate School External Fellowship Boot Camp – Spring

The USC Graduate School holds a fellowship boot camp each year in the spring for advanced PhD students in the humanities and social sciences who plan to apply for a variety of kinds of support. Calls for boot camps applications will be forwarded by the department.

Annenberg Student Emergency Aid Fund

Awards are distributed to Annenberg students experiencing unforeseen circumstances and emergencies impacting their ability to pay tuition or cover everyday living expenses. These awards are not intended to cover full-tuition expenses, but rather serve as bridge funding to guarantee students' continued enrollment at USC until other resources, such as scholarships or loans, become available.

https://annenberg.usc.edu/current-students/resources/annenberg-scholarships-and-awards

Annenberg Student Success Fund

Awards will be distributed throughout the year via an application process to Annenberg students pursuing extra- and co-curricular programs and opportunities not covered by tuition. https://annenberg.usc.edu/current-students/resources/annenberg-scholarships-and-awards

Short-Term Hardship Grant for UAW-Represented Graduate Student Workers

Graduate student workers with dependents may request short-term hardship grants to help defray costs due to unanticipated emergency or short-term financial hardship. Grants are subject to a cap of $2,500 per graduate student worker per semester. Details and application form can be found here: https://graduateschool.usc.edu/short-term-hardship-grant-for-uaw-represented-graduate-student-workers/

Childcare Subsidy for UAW-Represented Graduate Student Workers

Graduate student workers may request a childcare subsidy of up to $1,800 per semester for each child under the age of six. Details and application form can be found here: https://graduateschool.usc.edu/childcare-subsidy-for-uaw-represented-graduate-student-workers/

Fellowship & Graduate Assistantship Stipends

Stipend Distribution: First - Fifth Year

The total annual stipend amount for both fellowships and GA positions in 2024-2025 is $40,500.

For first year students, this is a full fellowship. All $40,500 comes as a fellowship from the Graduate School.

For second through fifth year students, this is a combination of GA funding from Annenberg ($31,500 paid out from mid-August through mid-May) plus Graduate School fellowship funding ($9,000 from the Graduate School, divided evenly over 12 months, August through July). Students are not required to serve as a GA over the summer.

Stipend Distribution: Sixth Year and Above

If a student is funded as a GA any year after their fifth year in the program, they will not receive Graduate School fellowship funding during those years. This means that for a sixth year or above student serving as a GA for the full academic year, the stipend will meet the University's GA minimum, which is $40,000/year as of Fall 2024 ($20,000 Fall 2024 and $20,000 Spring 2025 if only serving as a GA for one semester). They will not be funded over the summer.

Please see Appendix VI for detailed stipend calendars. These are the 2024-2025 payment schedules for all PhD students. The schedules will be updated annually.

Pavroll

By May 1, 2025, all first year students must fill out I-9 paperwork to be set up in USC payroll for their GA assignments. This will enable a smooth transition into second year Graduate Assistant assignments and prevent any unforeseen problems that would delay stipend payments.

First year students will be emailed a reminder in March to sign up for an in-person appointment with the Annenberg Payroll and Personnel Coordinator. Please make sure to do this before leaving for the summer.

Direct Deposit

Direct deposit is the recommended method of receiving your stipends. Students who do not sign up for direct deposit in the Workday system will have paper checks mailed to their current address in OASIS. Students are responsible for maintaining current contact information in OASIS.

First Year Domestic Students

While funded as a fellow, domestic students are Domestic Scholars. You will receive an email from the Workday system, prompting you to log in to complete onboarding. Sign up for direct deposit in the Workday system.

First Year International Students

While funded as a fellow, international students are NRA (Non-Resident Alien) Scholars. You will receive an email from the Workday system, prompting you to log in to complete onboarding.
Sign up for direct deposit in the Workday system. Once you are in LA, you must meet with the Annenberg Business Office to present your Glacier and I-9 documents in person.

Second – Fifth Year Domestic Students

• Domestic students are both Domestic Scholars (for fellowship stipends) and Graduate Assistants (for GA stipends) in years two through five. Students must meet with the Annenberg Business Office at the end of the first year to be set up as a Graduate Assistant in the Workday system and confirm their direct deposit information in Workday.

Second – Fifth Year International Students

• International Students are both NRA Scholars (for fellowship stipends) and Graduate Assistants (for GA stipends) in years two through five. Students must meet with the Annenberg Business Office at the end of the first year to be set up as a Graduate Assistant in the Workday system and confirm their direct deposit information in Workday.

Taxes

Taxes for domestic students are set by the U.S. government. Taxes for international students vary by country of citizenship and are specified by a treaty agreement between the U.S. and their home countries.

The Graduate School provides more information about taxes here.

International students should be sure to review the Office of International Services' information on U.S. taxes on income earned in the United States, including (but not limited to) salary and fellowships.

USC's EIN (Employer Identification Number) is 95-1642394. International students will need this when applying for a social security number (SSN) prior to their second year. A hard copy GA offer letter will be provided to all first year international students for this purpose in the second half of the spring semester.

USC staff cannot provide tax advice. Students are advised to contact the IRS and/or consult with a tax professional.

Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN)

The ITIN is a nine-digit number issued by the IRS to individuals who are not eligible to obtain a Social Security Number (SSN). The ITIN is used to file taxes and is not a form of work authorization. First year international students will need to apply for ITIN as students who receive payments from the university in the form of a check—your first year fellowship stipends. Please see instructions on the OIS website.

Over 50% GA Petition

During the fall and spring semesters, domestic students with a 50% GA position are allowed to work an additional 5 hours per week on campus with Graduate School approval. Due to visa work restrictions, international students may not work additional hours when assigned a 50% GA position.

You are limited to a maximum of five hours of work per week on top of your GA position. You must resubmit a petition every semester in which you work over 50%, even if you have been previously approved for the same position.

If you plan to work an hourly job on campus during fall or spring, please contact Sarah Holterman, who will start the Graduate School Over 50% Petition process.

Health Insurance

When students register for classes in the fall and spring, they will be automatically charged for health insurance and access to the USC Engemann Student Health Center. Coverage for students registered for Fall 2024 begins on Thursday, August 15, 2024. Spring health insurance continues over the summer, meaning that USC PhD students receive twelve months of uninterrupted health insurance.

To have access to the Engemann Student Health Center over the summer, you must enroll in GRSC 802 prior to the start of the summer semester. A reminder will be sent in late spring each year.

Insurance coverage for dependents is not included in the Annenberg funding package. USC does not offer coverage for dependents under student health insurance.

If you ever choose to waive your student health insurance, you must complete a waiver form. Please scroll down on this page and click on the red Insurance Waiver button.

While Annenberg pays for insurance coverage, we do not pay for individual visits to the Engemann Student Health Center/any other health care provider or for any related charges for procedures and tests.

For more information on student health services, including insurance, please see the USC Student Health website.

Tuition Refund Insurance

Each semester that you register for classes, you are automatically charged for Tuition Refund Insurance, which the Annenberg School does not pay. This fee is NOT mandatory and you are able to opt out of it. If you do not opt out of Tuition Refund Insurance, you will be responsible for the charges on your account. There are two ways to opt out:

- While you are registering for classes, you may click on the "Tuition Refund Insurance" button in Web Registration and select the Opt Out button.
- After registering for classes, you will have until the end of week three of the semester to opt out. To do this, you should log into Web Registration, click on the Tuition Refund Insurance button, and follow the system prompts.

You can find more information about Tuition Refund Insurance here.

Technology Requirement & Fees

All undergraduate and graduate Annenberg majors and minors are required to have a laptop that can be used in Annenberg classes.

The $150/semester Annenberg Student Access Fee (Technology Fee) is waived for doctoral students. If you have registered for a Communication master's course (i.e., CMGT, PUBD, DSM, some 500-level COMM courses open to master's students), please check your account at the beginning of every semester. If you have been charged this fee, please let Sarah know and she will have it reversed.

Mandatory University Fees

All graduate students at USC are charged three mandatory fees each semester, which are covered as part of both fellowship and GA funding packages:

- Student Programming Fee $40
- Norman Topping Fee $11
- Transportation Fee $117

More details on fees can be found on the Schedule of Classes.

Non-Annenberg Tuition and Lab Fees

Some USC schools, including the School of Cinematic Arts, the Marshall School of Business, the Viterbi School of Engineering, and the Gould School of Law, charge more per unit for tuition than Annenberg. Some courses also charge lab fees. If you have approval to count the class toward your degree requirements, the School of Communication will cover the additional costs.

Tuition for courses outside of Annenberg will only be covered if the course will count toward your degree requirements or if the course is necessary for your degree (i.e., a language or programming course).

If you plan to take a class outside of Annenberg, please let Sarah know when you register so adjustments can be made to your account before you receive your bill.

Summer Funding, Study, & Research

The summer provides many opportunities for doctoral students to progress towards their degrees, as well as other academic and professional objectives. Students are also expected to continue their own research efforts.

The Annenberg School provides additional opportunities for financial support during the summer months to as many doctoral students as possible.

Fall and spring semester graduate assistantships automatically include tuition for the following summer. Annenberg Graduate Fellows receive summer tuition support through the Graduate School as part of their support packages.

Annenberg is generally able to offer the following additional summer opportunities for PhD students:

Summer Educational Fellowships

Students may apply for financial support to participate at a summer educational institute or workshop. Funding is competitive and not guaranteed to all students. In the past, students have attended programs such as the Annenberg-Oxford Media Policy Institute, the Oxford Internet Institute, and the University of Michigan's Summer Program in Quantitative Methods. Students are required to provide a one page summary and evaluation of their experiences at their Summer Institutes. Summer Educational Fellowships are paid as taxable stipends.

Summer Research Fellowships

Students may apply for financial support to conduct a summer research project. Proposals are judged competitively and funding is not guaranteed. Every funded student is required to provide a final written report that explains the research conducted and provides the substantive findings of the work. These reports are generally 12-20 pages (including references), double spaced. Students are also asked to present their work during an ARS session. Summer Research Fellowships are paid as taxable stipends.

Students may only receive a summer research/education fellowship twice during their tenure at Annenberg. A student may not receive a summer research/education fellowship at the same time as an STS summer research fellowship or a COMPASS fellowship.

Reimbursement Requirements

All reimbursement requests, for conference travel, dissertation expenses, or anything else, must always be approved by the Annenberg Dean's Office.

To begin the approval process for any expense, email Sarah Holterman the following items:

- Advisor's Approval (if needed) This may be a pdf of an email or you may cc the advisor so they can reply to Sarah with approval.
- Proof of Participation For conferences, include a pdf of either an email of your acceptance or a page in the conference program with your name/presentation title highlighted.
- Dissertation Expense Form If you are requesting dissertation expense reimbursement, include this form with advisor signoff.

Sarah will prepare a memo with this documentation and submit it to the Dean's Office. Once she has received approval, you will be notified.

Please submit expenses within 60 days. Reimbursement requests $\underline{\text{must}}$ occur during the same fiscal year (July 1 – June 30) of the expense.

Travel Support

Annenberg School Travel Support

Travel Support Basics

Annenberg provides conference travel funding to students in their first through fifth years. Each student is provided with up to $1,000 per fiscal year (July 1 – June 30).

In order to be eligible for travel support, students must be active participants in a qualifying conference: delivering competitively selected papers and posters, participating on competitively selected panels, serving as program discussants, etc.

Students must also have advisor approval for their travel and conference participation. Please see below for a list of conferences that are pre-approved by the department and do not need additional advisor approval. A student still must be participating in these conferences for funding to be approved by the Dean's office.

Participation Exception

In order to experience and become acclimated with conferences, first year students may attend one conference without being active participants. The funding still comes from their annual $1,000—they do not receive any additional funding.

Pre-Approved Conferences

If you have been accepted to present at any of the following conferences, you do not need to get advisor approval before submitting to Sarah for Dean's office approval. These are conferences that many students have presented at in the past and which have been pre-approved by the department. They still require Dean's Office approval.

- American Political Science Association (APSA)
- American Studies Association (ASA)
- Association of Internet Researchers (AoIR)
- Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication (AEJMC)
- Conference on Human Factors in Computing Systems (CHI)
- Cultural Studies Association (CSA)
- International Association of Media and Communication Research (IAMCR)
- International Communication Association (ICA)
- International Network for Social Network Analysis (INSNA)
- National Communication Association (NCA)
- National Women's Studies Association (NWSA)
- Society for Cinema and Media Studies (SCMS)
- Society for Social Studies of Science (4S)
- Telecommunications Policy Research Conference (TPRC)
- Western States Communication Association (WSCA)

Submitting a Reimbursement

After your trip is complete, you may submit a reimbursement request for expenses accrued during your travel, such as airfare, lodging, ride share, meals, registration fees, etc. University rules state that you may not submit a reimbursement request before or during travel. The request must be submitted within 60 days of travel. If that deadline has passed, the amount of your reimbursement will be taxed as income. This policy covers all University faculty, staff, and students.

You MUST submit reimbursements within the same fiscal year (July 1 – June 30).

Gather the following items before beginning your reimbursement request:

- Dean's office approval memo. Sarah will send you the approved memo once it has been signed off by the dean's office. It will include your advisor's approval as well as proof of conference participation.
- Receipts for expenses. A credit card statement is not acceptable proof of purchase; please make sure you have emails from airlines with both your itinerary and payment; emailed receipts from Lyft/Uber; receipts/emails from hotels or Airbnb. See Appendix XI for tips on receipts.
- Make sure you know how much travel funding you have available. If you submit a request for more funding than you have available, it will be returned to you. It is recommended that students keep track of their own travel balance; to confirm current available funds, contact Sarah.

Reimbursement requests are submitted through Concur. Please see Appendix X for detailed instructions on submitting your reimbursement.

Per Diem

The University does not allow anyone (students, faculty, or staff) to request per diem reimbursements. You must submit individual receipts for meals—do not submit credit card statements. Each receipt must be listed individually.

Mileage

Students who use their personal vehicles to attend conferences may claim reimbursement at the following graduated rate:

One student in the car -200 miles round trip limit Two students in the car -400 miles round trip limit Three+ students in the car -600 miles round trip limit

Standard University mileage reimbursement rates apply. To receive reimbursement for mileage, students must include a map that shows the mileage from USC or their home to the conference location. Additional mileage at the destination site is not eligible for reimbursement. You may not be reimbursed for gas, only for mileage.

Reimbursable Travel Expenses

- Travel, including airfare, trains, buses, and rideshares
- Lodging, including hotels and Airbnbs
- Food individual receipts required, no per diems
- Conference registration

Non-reimbursable Travel Expenses

- Souvenirs
- Tourist attractions
- Per diems
- Any expenses for another individual, including travel, lodging, and food
- Personal travel done before or after the conference

If in doubt about an expense, please ask!

Other Travel Support

Graduate School Grants

Twice a year, the Graduate School opens applications for Graduate School PhD Fellow travel and research grants. If you are eligible to apply, you will be notified by the Graduate School when the application period opens. These are paid directly as stipends.

Graduate Student Government

Travel funds are sometimes available through the Graduate Student Government (GSG) association, provided the student has already exhausted all possibilities of school funding. GSG requires proof that you do not have any remaining departmental funding.

Professional Association Membership Support

Annenberg pays the membership fees for all doctoral students (during their first five years) to belong to ICA and NCA*.

While the school will pay for registration fees for approved conferences (provided that the student meets the participation requirements and has sufficient funds available), we will not pay for membership fees for other professional associations.

*If you wish to decline NCA 2024-2025 student membership, you may choose another professional association for 2024-2025 and your membership will be paid by the department in place of NCA.

Dissertation Research Support

All students who have passed their qualifying exams and have successfully defended the prospectus for their dissertations are eligible to receive up to $3,000 in funding for approved dissertation-related research expenses.

Once a student has passed quals, they must submit a Dissertation Research Funds Application (signed by their advisor) to Sarah Holterman. This form is not binding, but it is expected to be a well-thought-out plan. Sarah will obtain Dean's Office approval.

Dissertation funding is limited to expenses related to the research and writing of the dissertation only. You may not use dissertation funding for University fees, including but not limited to dissertation submission fees and regalia rental fees, or for travel to conferences for the sole purpose of presenting "dissertation-related" work. Any travel must be related to the research and writing of a student's dissertation.

Approval of dissertation expenses is always at the discretion of the Director of the Doctoral Program, the Director of the School of Communication, and the Annenberg Dean's Office. As with travel expenses, dissertation expenses are reimbursed via the online Concur system and must be approved by the Dean's Office.

Electronic Equipment Purchases

Any purchase of electronic or other equipment using Annenberg School of Communication funds must be approved in writing by the student's advisor, by the Director of the Doctoral Program, and by the Dean.

All equipment purchased using Annenberg funds is the property of the USC Annenberg School of Communication.

All equipment must be tagged as Annenberg property by Annenberg Technical Services and Operations (TechOps). In the case of computers and other electronic equipment, Annenberg Information Technology must certify that the equipment conforms to all USC security and safety requirements. Please contact TechOps to fulfill this requirement.

All equipment purchased with School of Communication funds must be returned to the school when students have completed the tasks for which the equipment was purchased. At the very latest, equipment must be returned by the time of the dissertation defense or when the student leaves the school for any other reason.

Part Four:

Citizenship & Life at Annenberg

PART FOUR: CITIZENSHIP & LIFE AT ANNENBERG

All students are expected to participate in the intellectual life of the Annenberg School. Each year, there are many opportunities for scholarly and professional development. Students are asked to attend public lectures and events, consistent with fulfilling academic and teaching assignments.

Announcements about events will be made via the commgrad mailing list.

Annenberg Research Seminar (ARS)

Colloquia and research seminars are scheduled for most Mondays at noon in ASC 207. Job talks and other public events are held at this time and doctoral students will sometimes be asked to present their work. Students should plan to attend, consistent with other course and assignment obligations.

Meet the Faculty

The department will arrange panels with faculty members to discuss their research. While all students are welcome, these sessions are geared toward first year students as a way to become familiar with Annenberg faculty.

Professional Development

Events focusing on professional development will be held throughout the year. Topics will be developed in consultation with ACGSA. Past topics have included: qualifying exam preparation, job interviewing, prospectus writing, publishing, the Institutional Review Board and human subjects research, meetings of professional associations, and grants.

Pedagogy Workshops

There will be several workshops per semester covering topics such as TA responsibilities, writing a syllabus, facilitating discussions, grading, ethical issues in the classroom, and more. Assistant Dean for Excellence in Teaching Carmen Lee (carmenml@usc.edu) will facilitate these sessions.

Graduate Writing Coach

The School of Communication provides a writing coach who is available to all Communication graduate students, including PhD students. The coach holds in-person and online office hours, during which he meets with students individually. He also presents workshops and organizes PhD-specific writing groups and boot camps.

Doctoral Student Website Profiles

All Annenberg School of Communication doctoral students have a profile on the Annenberg website. For updates and changes to your bio and/or photo, please contact Sarah.

Academic Integrity

The School of Communication is committed to upholding the University's Academic Integrity policy, outlined in The USC Student Handbook. It is the policy of the School of Communication to report all violations of the code. Any violation of the Academic Integrity policy will result in the student's expulsion from the doctoral program.

Because of their special status as role models for undergraduate students and as future professors whose degrees and reputations will be based on their capacity to conduct their own scholarly research, doctoral students are held to the highest standards of academic integrity. It is particularly important that you are aware of and avoid plagiarism, cheating on exams, fabricating data for a project, submitting a paper to more than one professor, or submitting a paper authored by anyone but yourself.

If you have questions about any of these practices, please confer with a faculty member and/or the Director of the Annenberg Doctoral Program.

Annenberg Communication Graduate Student Association (ACGSA)

The Annenberg Communication Graduate Student Association (ACGSA) is the student organization for doctoral students in Communication. ACGSA is a registered USC student organization and has access to funds through the Graduate Student Government (GSG), USC's graduate student assembly.

The general principle of the graduate student association is to promote collegiality and to support a feeling of community among fellow students and in the School generally. ACGSA officers are elected each spring for the following academic year, with the exception of the First Year Representative, who is elected by the new cohort within a few weeks of the beginning of the fall semester. Officers meet regularly with department faculty and staff.

The 2024-2025 ACGSA officers and their major duties are listed in Appendix XVII.

ACGSA Listserv

ACGSA has its own listserv that is limited to ACGSA members. No faculty, staff, or non-doctoral students are able to send or receive email from it. Messages on this list should be considered to be confidential communication among the PhD students and should not be forwarded or shown outside the community without approval of the sender. At the same time, everyone using the system must recognize that the computers are not themselves secure systems.

Students are not required to subscribe to the list, but should note that ACGSA conducts a large part of its regular business in discussions via the listserv. Students who choose not to subscribe need to be aware that they are opting out of an important mode of participation in the scholarly community life.

Commgrad Listserv

This is the mailing list for current PhD students that Annenberg faculty and staff will use to contact all students. As a currently enrolled student, you are automatically subscribed to the list with your USC email account.

Please check your USC email account on a regular basis to ensure that you don't miss any important information from the department.

PhD Student Offices and Access to Facilities

Offices for doctoral students are in the Garden Level West of the ASC building.

3502 Watt Way Suites G4 & G6 Los Angeles, CA 90089-0281

All PhD students in the School of Communication should have keys to access the building and a USC identification card to access the PhD student offices. Contact Annenberg TechOps in ANN L103 to obtain an ASC key and have your card programmed for access. You can also have them program the card to open classrooms for TA and AL positions.

Individual desk assignments are made by ACGSA.

USCard

You can obtain a USCard from Card Services. Submit an application here. These ID cards are used to get into the PhD offices, classrooms, some parking structures, the USC gym, and to access USC Libraries. Please make sure to get your card soon after arriving on campus.

Security

Classrooms and offices must be locked when not in use. Undergraduates and other non-PhD graduate students should not be left alone in the PhD offices if there are no doctoral students present. Do not leave your belongings unattended on campus, even for a short amount of time.

If you need an Annenberg classroom unlocked, contact TechOps at 213-740-5297.

Desk Assignments

PhD student desk space is allocated based on seniority and standing in the program. In general, every effort will be made to make desk space available for any doctoral student who is frequently on campus. Depending on the size of the doctoral student population at any given time, this may require that some people share a desk. First year doctoral students should expect to share desks.

The ACGSA board makes desk assignments at the beginning of the academic year; students should indicate their preferences at that time. Continuing students will remain at the same desk unless they express a desire to change. New students will not have an initial opportunity to request a specific desk, but may change locations if another student is willing to swap.

Kitchen

All of the food-related appliances (refrigerators, microwave, coffeemakers, etc.) in the Garden Level West kitchen belong to the PhD students. Please note that the School custodial staff does not clean or maintain the appliances—students are responsible for care of appliances.

General Maintenance and Supplies

The custodial staff regularly vacuums the floors and empties the trash cans in the PhD student offices. Please note that while trash in the kitchen will be emptied daily, trash cans in the cubicles and work areas will be emptied on Mondays and Thursdays only. If you are throwing out food, please do so in the kitchen trash can.

Large items for disposal that don't fit inside trash cans should be clearly marked for disposal. The custodians do not clean desks or equipment of any kind. PhD students are responsible for the general tidiness of the offices, the appliances, and personal areas.

The physical plant of the School (plumbing, electrical, telephone lines, computers, etc.) is overseen by Annenberg TechOps. The furnishings in the student offices (desks, bookcases, chairs, phones, office supplies, etc.) fall under the School of Communication Director's Office.

If you don't know the correct person to contact for a specific problem about the student offices, please ask either an ACGSA officer or contact Val Ramirez (vr79969@usc.edu) in the Director's Office. Val is also in charge of ordering office supplies for the PhD offices.

Telephones

PhD students share telephones in their offices. Doctoral students serving as TAs with office hours are expected to answer their phones during those office hours.

Campus phone numbers all have a 213 area code and a prefix of either 740 or 821. When calling a campus number from another on-campus phone, you will use a five digit extension number. This consists of the final five digits of the full number. For example: The Comm School's full phone number is 213-740-3951 and its on-campus extension is x03951. The Annenberg admissions office's full phone number is 213-821-0770 and its on-campus extension is x10770.

USC Email

All correspondence from both USC and the Annenberg School will be sent to the student's USC email address.

Log in here to access your USC mail and affiliated Google Apps.

USC Business Cards

The School of Communication provides USC business cards for current PhD students. You will be sent a link at the beginning of your first year and the cards will be ordered by the School of Communication office.

Once you have passed your qualifying exam, you may apply for new business cards to change your title from "PhD Student" to "PhD Candidate."

Part Five:

School of Communication Administration

PART FIVE: SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATION ADMINISTRATION

The three major administrative centers of the Annenberg School are the Dean's Office, the School of Communication, and the School of Journalism.

- Dean's Office ANN 402 213-740-6180 ascdean@usc.edu
- School of Communication ASC 305 213-740-3951 commdir@usc.edu
- School of Journalism ASC 303 213-740-3914 jourbks@usc.edu

Director of the Annenberg Doctoral Program

The Director of the Annenberg Doctoral Program is a member of the faculty and is responsible for the overall operation of the program. The Director develops long-term programs and policies, and presents them to the faculty for discussion and approval. The Director also administers the day to day functions of the program, including:

- Advising all first year students until after they have been screened and formed their guidance committees
- Consulting with students about their programs
- Reviewing and approving student requests and progress
- Chairing the Doctoral Admissions Committee and the Doctoral Screening and Review Committee
- Coordinating reports for the faculty

Graduate Advisor, PhD in Communication

The PhD Advisor provides academic support to doctoral students and serves as a liaison between students and other University departments. The PhD advisor maintains and supervises administrative procedures pertaining to academic progress, including:

- Graduate student records
- Registration
- General petitions and all program forms, including:
 - Qualifying exams
 - o Committee forms
 - Quals and dissertation defenses

Appendices

APPENDIX I: THE FIVE-YEAR TRACK

Here's what to expect during your time in the Annenberg doctoral program. This schedule allows students to make progress toward completing the PhD in five years.

First Year

The first year involves completing core courses, being screened, and beginning to decide whom to invite to be your faculty advisor.

During both fall and spring semesters, all first year students will enroll in two core courses and will typically enroll in a third course of their choice each semester.

Students should consult with the Director of the Doctoral Program and their faculty mentor on coursework choices. Anne Marie Campian will also track coursework via a student's STARS Report, which can be accessed by logging into OASIS. The STARS (Student Academic Record System) Report reflects a student's academic progress toward completion of their degree. The report contains all USC coursework and accepted transfer work that applies to degree requirements.

All graduate students must verify that they have been awarded a bachelor's-level degree from an accredited institution in the United States or an equivalent degree from an institution outside the United States. Please see link above for domestic and international transcript guidelines.

Students who wish to transfer prior graduate-level coursework should consult with Anne Marie Campian and their first year mentors.

Students must complete a PhD Registration Authorization form (or d-clearance form) each time they register for a class. Anne Marie will provide departmental approval for registration. D-clearance for classes outside the School of Communication may be obtained by contacting individual departments.

Screening takes place at the end of the first year and is a review of all first year students completed by the Director of Doctoral Studies as well as the faculty instructors of the four core courses.

During the summer after the first year, international students should obtain a Social Security Number (SSN). They will also be required to take the International TA Exam at the USC American Language Institute (ALI) before serving as a Graduate Assistant.

Second Year

In the second year, students register for courses in their primary and minor areas of concentration as well as their cognate area.

By the end of their third semester (generally the fall of the second year), a student must select their faculty advisor and declare a preliminary three-person guidance committee, consisting of their advisor and two additional Annenberg faculty members.

It is critically important that students work closely with their advisors and their guidance committee to develop a program of study and select cognate courses.

Third Year

During the third year, students will finish course work and begin to form their qualifying exam committee. The quals committee typically consists of the three members of the guidance committee plus two additional faculty members, although students are free to change any and all of the original three members.

Once the quals committee is created, students should meet with each member to select areas of examination, discuss the relevant parameters and domain of the exam, and develop a reading list.

Students generally complete their qualifying exam in the spring of their third year or the fall of their fourth year.

Fourth Year

The fourth year focuses on four items, which should be completed by the end of the fall semester:

- Completion and successful defense of qualifying exam
- Selection of dissertation advisor
- Selection of dissertation committee
- Completion and successful defense of prospectus

The qualifying exam is designed to test the student's readiness to begin the research and writing of a dissertation. The exam includes both written and oral parts.

The prospectus is a document that articulates the dissertation project, methodology, justification, and outline of chapters.

Students should begin work on their dissertation.

Fifth Year

The fifth year is spent in research, completing the dissertation, and preparing to enter the job market. Continuous enrollment in COMM 794 dissertation units is required each term (excluding summers) from the date of candidacy until the final version of the dissertation is submitted through Thesis Center and accepted by the Graduate School. If you have not been continuously enrolled, USC will not grant you a degree.

Degrees are conferred three times a year by the University: in May (spring), August (summer), and December (fall). The Graduate School reviews dissertations on a rolling basis:

Thesis and dissertation related documents are reviewed year-round in the order received. The review process typically takes between 6 and 8 weeks. Students should expect at least one, and possibly two rounds of manuscript formatting corrections.

If you would like to waive the continuous enrollment requirement (i.e. be exempt from registering in 794), you must complete all required checklist items, and submit the manuscript to the Graduate School Thesis Center by the "early submission" deadlines listed.

Enrollment is not required during the summer semester, therefore the continuous enrollment waiver is only available in the Fall and Spring semesters. International students wishing to waive the continuous enrollment requirement should check with the Office of International Services (OIS) to be sure the lack of course registration will not affect their visa status.

Please review the Graduate School's information carefully to ensure that you submit your dissertation and other documents in a timely manner.

APPENDIX II: THE QUALIFYING EXAM

The process of putting together a qualifying examination takes communication, strategic choices, and planning. During this process, you will primarily consult with your advisor and must communicate with the other four members of your committee, as well as with the PhD Academic Advisor.

The qualifying exam challenges you to think about, reflect on, and critically integrate knowledge. Strategic choices are needed so that the books, articles, and other documents you read produce a workable and productive experience for you and your committee.

It's important to remember that the qualifying exam requires planning. You'll need to develop an overall schedule, ending with a confirmed defense date, as well as take care of administrative details such as reserving a room where the defense can be held.

As you read through the guidelines, please remember that no two cases are identical. You should act early, ask questions, be engaged in planning, and communicate frequently with your advisor and committee members.

Setting up the Qualifying Exam

Usually, the students solicit questions from committee members. Anne Marie Campian assembles the exam, releases the exam to the student at the appropriate time, receives the written answers when completed, and distributes these answers to members of the committee.

Answers may be submitted electronically or in print. Regardless of the process followed, it is essential that a complete copy of the exam and answers be returned to Anne Marie for placement in the student's file.

Written Qualifying Exam Options

Open Book Exam

In consultation with their advisors, some students select four or five substantive areas over which they wish to be examined. Three or four questions cover areas deemed important to the students' major and minor concentrations. In some cases, at least one question will address a topic outside those areas of concentration.

Members of qualifying examination committees are responsible for approving reading lists in these areas and for writing questions. Students may request to select from a pool of two or three questions per area.

The open book exam should take a minimum of 10 consecutive days or a maximum of 14 consecutive days. Regardless of how you manage your own writing schedule within that block of time, all students will have a maximum of 14 consecutive days to complete the exam. This decision should be made by the candidate and their advisor, and must be confirmed in advance of the exam period with Anne Marie Campian.

Students may begin writing on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday.

Students may write at home or at another location of their choosing. Answers should be typed and conform to an appropriate professional style manual (APA, MLA, etc.) specified by the committee.

Closed Book Exam

In closed book exams, students are typically required to write for a minimum of 12 hours, normally spread out over several days. At least eight hours are devoted to questions in the student's major and minor concentrations. At least four hours cover the cognate and outside areas. This decision should be made by the candidate and their advisor, and must be confirmed in advance of the exam period with Anne Marie Campian.

For a closed book exam, faculty members are responsible for approving reading lists in these areas and for writing questions. Students may request to select from a pool of two or three questions per area.

For the closed book exam, students who are writing in the same specialization, or in the same area for the same faculty member, should write on the same days and times. Students are responsible for reserving an appropriate location and arranging for computer access with Annenberg TechOps.

Absolutely no notes or other materials are permitted during the closed book exam. A blank USB drive will be provided and should be returned to Anne Marie Campian at the conclusion of each writing period.

Scheduling the Exam

Students are encouraged to write during the fall or spring semester. Summer exams are rare but may be permitted with approval from the Director of the Doctoral Program. The Graduate School requires that all portions of the exam (including the oral defense) be completed within 60 days.

Six Month Path to the Qualifying Exam

SIX MONTHS BEFORE QUALS

Those taking quals in the spring should start this process at the beginning of the academic year. Those taking quals in the fall should start during the prior spring semester. This initial phase is meant to be a time of discovery and organization.

Reading Lists

Students generally develop one reading list per quals area. These lists include books and articles, collections and original works, classics in the area that everyone should know, latest research articles in the area, as well as specialized materials related to key debates in the field.

Readings can be assembled from class syllabi and/or lists borrowed from fellow students, but they should always be developed in relation to what you have read and what you need to read. Talk to your advisor about different ways of generating reading lists, but do not limit yourself too much at this point.

For the initial lists, you will want to generate a range of material that is of interest to both you and your committee members. Start early, because not everything you come up with can be read and mastered in your qualifying exam semester.

Dissertation Ideas

Dissertation project ideas should also be developed during this time. You are encouraged to integrate the dissertation topic into the process of qualifying exam development, although the means of integration are left up to the advisor and committee members. A dissertation idea can be represented by a complete prospectus, or it can be sketched out in terms of methods, data, cases, and contributions.

BEGINNING OF THE QUALIFYING EXAMINATION SEMESTER

First Meeting with Advisor

Schedule a meeting with your advisor as early as possible. You should discuss the following issues in this meeting:

□ Committee Membership

Who will the members be? These members should be faculty members you have taken courses with, whose competencies you wish to be identified with, and who may become part of your dissertation committee. Remember that faculty may or may not suspend duties while on leave or sabbatical. Another factor to consider when choosing: letters for job applications are usually written by faculty who know you well.

☐ Committee Membership: Outside Members

An outside member is a faculty member of some other USC department or school who represents an area of expertise you wish to claim or a person who has knowledge relevant to your dissertation project. The purpose of the outside member is twofold: to provide guidance in an area of expertise that the student wishes to claim and/or knowledge relevant to the student's dissertation project and to provide additional perspective on the qualifying exam project. You are not required to have an outside member, but Annenberg faculty strongly support this practice and most advisors will encourage you to invite an outside member.

Any faculty member – external, outside, or from the School of Communication – who serves on PhD dissertation and qualifying exam committees must have a professional profile that demonstrates academic impact on the field in significant, measurable ways.

You and your advisor should agree on what the role of the outside member will be in the examination. Generally, the outside member will have three major responsibilities: assisting in the generation and approval of the reading lists, writing and/or contributing to the student's qualifying exam questions, and reading and evaluating written answers in preparation for the student's oral defense. Outside members are not required to provide written evaluations or comments on the exam. If the student has elected to integrate the dissertation proposal with the qualifying exam, the outside committee member may also be asked to read the proposal prior to the oral defense.

When asking the professor to sit on the committee, you should be able to describe the duties and process concisely. Work with your advisor to create a personalized memo for the outside member, covering such topics as: the areas covered by the exam, the length of the reading lists, open book vs. closed book, the outside member's responsibilities for generating questions, how often the student will meet with the outside member, the timeline and details of the qualifying exam process, etc. Discuss with your advisor how you will contact committee members.

□ Committee Membership: External Members

An external member is a faculty member from an institution other than USC who represents an area of expertise you wish to claim or a person who has knowledge relevant to your dissertation project. The purpose of the external member, should you choose to have one, is twofold: to provide guidance in an area of expertise that the student wishes to claim and/or knowledge relevant to the student's dissertation project and to provide an external perspective on the qualifying exam project. You are not required to have an external member.

Guidelines for the external member's professional profile and role on the committee are the same as those listed above for outside members.

To obtain approval for an external (non-USC) committee member, the student must first petition this with a clear, detailed summary (one page letter to the committee chair and Director of Doctoral Studies, with a cc to the Academic Program Associate and PhD Advisor) that explains the need for the inclusion of this faculty member. The final decision will be determined by the chair of the committee and the Director of Doctoral Studies.

If you choose to include an external member who does not live in the Los Angeles area, Annenberg will not pay for their travel or accommodations. External members may participate remotely in the defense.

The CV of the external member must be uploaded along with the Appointment of Committee form and will become part of the official record.

☐ What areas will the exam cover?

Students write in three to five areas, with most settling on four. As there are five members on a committee, faculty members will double up in at least one area. This is not always the case—an advisor and student can decide to mix and match faculty across areas. The question of what constitutes an "area" of study varies. Here are some representative types of understandings:

- An area identifies a claim of your own expertise to be tested
- An area identifies a concept or concepts that are discussed and debated in the field of communication
- An area identifies a methodological competency
- An area is a theory that contains a recognized corpus of research

☐ Reading Lists

Reading lists should be shaped to fit the areas you have developed with your advisor. Students vary in regard to the length of these lists, as the definition of area also varies. Generally, your list should include fifty to a hundred sources (books and articles) per area. It is useful to arrange the sources in a way that makes sense for your project, e.g., by expert source, issues in the field, or chronological order. The better prepared the list, the better the conversations you will have when asking faculty members to serve on your committee. Remember that the list should be flexible; committee members will offer input on prioritizing or adding sources. Draw materials from previous courses, research projects, and areas of interest. This is a time of discovery, so make the lists broad and obtain the materials.

- Select what is crucial and what seems peripheral
- Develop a justification for selecting these readings
- Write a narrative for each area that ties the readings together

☐ Scheduling Exam and Defense

Before meeting with your committee members, you and your advisor should determine when you will take the qualifying exam and when you will defend the exam. It is recommended that you schedule the defense as soon as you know the dates of the qualifying exam. Your first round of meetings with committee members provides an excellent opportunity to ascertain availability of members for a defense date. Remember that it is always easier to coordinate faculty schedules at the beginning of the semester.

Meetings with Committee Members

As soon as plans are set with your advisor, you should arrange meetings with your committee members. This should ideally happen in the first few weeks of the semester before you will take your qualifying exam. In these meetings, you should:

Explain the role they are being asked to play in the examination. This is especially important for an "outside" or "external" member, who may not be familiar with the Annenberg examination process. Explain the customs of preparation, writing, and evaluation.
Show the faculty your reading list and have it reviewed on the spot, or leave an opening for suggestions.
Refine agreement on the areas. Communicate whether the committee member will be a sole or collaborative writer of questions. (Make this decision with your advisor prior to meeting with committee members.)
Discuss the number of questions, and whether you will be asked to choose between questions.
Discuss the relation of the exam and its various areas to the dissertation project.
After the meeting, summarize what was agreed upon and email this information to the committee member, requesting modification if memory varies. Include a modified reading list and request feedback to make sure you are on the same page.

Finalizing Plans

☐ Meet with your Advisor Again

After you have met with your entire committee, meet again with your advisor to finalize plans: develop a concise description of the exam; identify the when, where, and method of the exam; construct memo (see below) and determine with your advisor which one of you will communicate this information to the committee.

☐ Create the Memo

After meeting with your committee members, you should construct a summary document that details the areas, committee members, who is writing which questions, and number of hours (closed book) or days (open book). In this memo, be sure to specify when and to whom the questions should be sent. Sometimes committee members send questions to Anne Marie to distribute and sometimes to the chair.

☐ Send the Memo

Some advisors prefer to send the memo to the committee members; some will let the student do this. Either way, once the final plan is put in place, notify everyone quickly. Emailing the final plan (with reading lists attached) helps to ensure everyone is on the same page.

Visit the Office of the PhD Advisor

Please make an appointment with Anne Marie Campian to review the process and make sure all necessary forms are filled out in the appropriate sequence by the required deadlines. If you are uncertain about when to take the examination, how to get rooms for writing or for your defense, or about any other step of the quals process, please inquire with Anne Marie as early as possible.

Prepare for the Examination

For closed book examinations, students may concentrate notes to a page per source, develop memory devices, and formulate answers in their minds. For open book exams, students may select quotations, develop a bibliography, and familiarize themselves with key research.

In either case, preparation should involve strategic thinking about what is important to know, which terms are important to define, which arguments can be made about a topic area, and how debates articulated in classes, seminars, or meetings can be responded to. Many students find it useful to consult with others who have already taken their exams or to form working groups with students who are taking exams in the same semester.

While preparation techniques for the exam vary, preparation always requires a systematic schedule that combines good time management with self-discipline.

- Plan a systematic, weekly approach to reading, note-taking, organization, and integration of materials. Ask questions if you hit snags or are uncertain. Develop a support team to talk through issues.
- Outlines or notes should be comprehensive but brief, useful, and incisive. Consult with peers on reading and preparation strategies. As open- and closed-book strategies differ, talk to those who have taken the same format.
- Two weeks prior to the exam, confirm your arrangements, rechecking space availability with Annenberg TechOps. You should also check in with your committee members a few days before they are scheduled to begin writing. These meetings give you an opportunity to talk about your experience with the reading list (what you got out of it, what posed difficulties, what questions the reading generated for you, etc.). Discussing these topics serves as an excellent preparation for the exam itself and may aid the faculty members in writing questions that are genuinely interesting and useful for you to write on.
- One week before the exam, send a reminder notice to the committee. Make sure it indicates to whom the questions should be sent, when you will write the exam, when you will defend the exam, and where the defense will be held.

The Oral Defense

The scope of the defense is open in the sense that it can cover material from previous courses, although oral defenses usually focus on the written answers. Sometimes committee members ask for elaboration, pose a counter-position, or ask you to repair a weak answer. Frequently, the defense explores areas, synthesizes ideas, or covers information relevant to the dissertation. You should meet with your advisor before the defense to discuss what you need to prepare.

APPENDIX III: QUALIFYING EXAM CHECKLIST

SIX MONTHS BEFORE QUALS

	Meet with advisor to discuss choice of committee members and areas.
	Begin to construct a broad reading list for each area.
	Check with a potential outside or external members on availability to serve on your committee.
	Submit external committee member petition for review and approval.
	Check with PhD Advisor Anne Marie Campian to make sure you have met all requirements.
DURII	NG THE SEMESTER PRIOR TO TAKING THE QUALIFYING EXAM
	Meet with Anne Marie to obtain proper forms and discuss timing.
	Complete and obtain signatures on the Request to Take the PhD Qualifying Examination form .
	Complete and obtain signatures on the Appointment of Committee form.
	Complete and obtain signatures on the Dissertation Prospectus Options form.
	Submit all signed forms to Anne Marie no later than thirty days prior to beginning the exam.
BEGINNING OF THE QUALIFYING EXAMINATION SEMESTER
	Meet with your advisor.
	Determine when you will take the qualifying exam and when you will defend the exam.
	Shape reading lists in preparation to discuss with committee.
	In the first two to three weeks of the semester, meet with committee members.
	After meeting with your committee, meet with your advisor again to confirm plans.
PREP.	ARING FOR THE QUALIFYING EXAMINATION
	Plan a systematic, weekly approach to reading, note taking, and organization.
	Two weeks before the exam, confirm room reservation for defense with TechOps and/or confirm Zoom link or other method of communication.
	Check in with committee members a few days before they are scheduled to begin writing.
	A week before the exam, send a reminder notice to the committee.

APPENDIX IV: DISSERTATION PROSPECTUS STRUCTURE

Graduate Writing Coach Troy Mikanovich has prepared a template with suggestions for how to think about the individual sections of your dissertation prospectus, as well as an explanation of what each section should accomplish.

Expectations for the format and length of your dissertation prospectus should be discussed with your advisor. Your advisor may also ask that you amend this structure to include other sections.

A well-thought out dissertation prospectus will provide a solid foundation for the actual research and writing of the dissertation itself.

Introduction [background, social/real context, research question]

What question are you asking about the topic you want to study? What about the real world has made you ask this question?

- Introduce and contextualize the topic/problem/phenomenon you will be studying.
- Identify the specific research question(s) that your work will attempt to answer, clarifying why those questions are important to answer

Literature Review [academic context, research gap/niche]

What have other scholars said about this topic/question (or related topics/questions) and what are the consequences of the way this discussion has taken place? E.g., is there a research gap to be filled? Why is this existing scholarship unable to answer your specific research question?

- Organize and summarize scholarship about the topic you are studying and research question you want to answer.
- Identify what is missing from or lacking about the scholarship on this topic. If you don't want to frame your research around a gap or deficit, make an argument about the state of existing scholarship (and its consequences) that you can use to justify your own research.

Methodology [data gathering, data analysis, theoretical framework, justification] Given your research question and the state of existing scholarship, what are you going to do

Given your research question and the state of existing scholarship, what are you going to do? How will you answer your research question and why is this the right way to do it?

- Clarify your methods for gathering and analyzing data (your methods of argumentation). This may include explanations of how you will sample existing data sets or collect new data.
- Justify why you have chosen these methods. Compare or contrast your methods with those used by other scholars who have studied this topic/question.
- If necessary, articulate the theoretical presuppositions/framework that you are relying on.

Conclusion/Significance [importance, scope of expected contributions]

Why is this work important? Not just this kind of research, in general, but the specific question you are asking and the specific way you have chosen to answer your question.

- Regardless of what you find, how will this research contribute to some or all of the following:
 - o The broader empirical or theoretical contributions of your field
 - o A more nuanced understanding of your specific topic
 - o The methodological tools that scholars can use to study similar topics
 - o A better understanding of or solution to some real world problems

Proposed Chapter Outline

• Briefly describe the focus and purpose of each chapter.

Timeline

- Briefly describe the individual steps that you will take to complete your research and when you anticipate them being done.
 - o If applicable, include notes about data gathering, analysis, writing, revisions, etc.
 - O Suggest a proposed check-in schedule with your advisor or committee.

Sample Research Instruments [if applicable]

- Examples of survey/interview questions
- IRB-related materials (check with your advisor)

APPENDIX V: DISSERTATION FORMATS

In addition to the traditional dissertation format, students may consider these options:

Three-Paper Format

A student may choose to present a dissertation that consists of three original papers. Students choosing this alternative format are expected to reflect this choice in their prospectus, after discussion with their advisor and agreement from their dissertation committee.

Each paper must constitute a substantive contribution to the respective field of study, and is expected to be of publishable quality. (Paper accepted for publication or for conference presentation will be automatically considered to meet this requirement.) Only papers in which the student is the first author and has completed the vast majority of the intellectual and technical effort (or for cases where the scope of work is substantially larger, that the student's contribution is the equivalent to the first case) will be accepted. The dissertation committee will determine if a paper is acceptable as a dissertation chapter.

The three papers are expected to be thematically related and demonstrate mastery in a particular field of study. In addition, students are required to present an introductory chapter that situates the three papers in a larger scholarly conversation and a conclusion chapter that outlines the key contributions of the dissertation to current knowledge. Overall, the expectation is that this format will represent at least equivalent effort compared to the traditional dissertation format.

Multimodal Format

A student may choose to present a dissertation that consists of a multimodal project, combining media production work (e.g., a video essay, a documentary film, a podcast, a computer game, a mobile app) with a substantive written component. The balance between the media work and the written component will vary from project to project. Students choosing this dissertation format are expected to reflect this choice in their prospectus, after discussion with their advisor and agreement from their dissertation committee.

The media work will be judged based on the argument it constructs and the evidence it mobilizes as well as its technical competency in its chosen medium. Only projects in which the student is the primary creator and has completed the vast majority of the intellectual and technical effort (or for cases where the scope of work is substantially larger, that the student's contribution is the equivalent to the first case) will be accepted. The written component, of which the student must be first author, will situate the work in a larger scholarly conversation, provide documentation for claims made in the media work itself, and provide a rationale for why this work makes an important and original contribution to the field.

Both components are expected to be of publishable quality. (Work accepted for publication, festival screening, conference presentation or equivalent venue will be automatically considered to meet this requirement.) The dissertation committee will determine if a media work or a paper fulfills the requirements outlined above. Overall, the expectation is that this format will represent at least equivalent effort compared to the traditional dissertation format.

APPENDIX VI: STIPEND DISTRIBUTION SCHEDULES

Students in their first through fifth years receive a total annual stipend of $40,500. For first year students, this is a full fellowship from the Graduate School. For second through fifth year students, this is a combination of GA funding from Annenberg and fellowship funding from the Graduate School.

Depending on type of funding and student status, stipends may be received on different dates each month. Please see the following pages for 2024–2025 pay dates.

The University also posts schedules online:

Fellowship Schedule 2024-25

GA Payroll Schedule 2024

GA Payroll Schedule 2025 – to be posted on the Payroll Services website prior to January 2025

2024 – 2025 FELLOWSHIP STIPEND CALENDAR

These dates are valid for both first year students and advanced students who are receiving full fellowships from the University. Dates are for both international and domestic students. The total annual stipend amount for 2024-2025 is $40,500.

July 2025	$3,375 fellowship	7/2/25

^{*}First year students may receive their August 2024 stipend after this date, depending on when direct deposit was set up.

^{}The Graduate School pays out November and December fellowship stipends in one payment in November to ensure that all students receive their final fellowship stipend of the calendar year prior to Winter Break.

2024 – 2025 GA STIPEND CALENDAR GA + FELLOWSHIP (SECOND – FIFTH YEARS)

During their second through fifth years in the program, students are funded as 50% GAs during the fall and spring semesters PLUS fellowship funding year-round (August through July) from the Graduate School. The total annual stipend amount for 2024-2025 is $40,500.

- August and May are half GA payments since GA appointments begin in the middle of August and end in the middle of May.
- Students will receive their monthly fellowship stipend on a different date than their monthly GA stipend. Fellowships are paid on the first Wednesday of the month. GA stipends are paid on the University's monthly payroll date, which is the 26th of the month (or the closest weekday prior, should the 26th fall on a weekend or holiday).

These dates and amounts are valid for all students being funded as Annenberg GAs in years two through five of the program, both international and domestic.

2024 – 2025 SIXTH YEAR AND ABOVE GA STIPEND CALENDAR

If a student is funded as a GA any year after their fifth year, they will not receive Graduate School fellowship funding during those years and will not be funded during June or July. They will be paid at the current University stipend minimum. For the 2024-2025 academic year, that is $40,000/year.

If only funded for one semester (fall or spring), the stipend is $20,000 per semester.

GA funding past the fifth year is not guaranteed.

August and May are half GA payments since GA appointments begin in the middle of August and end in the middle of May.

Dates and amounts listed here apply to both domestic and international students.

APPENDIX VII: DIRECT DEPOSIT

Direct deposit is the easiest and most reliable way to receive payments from the University. Direct deposit must be set up in the online Workday payroll system:

https://wd5.myworkday.com/usc/

- 1. On the Workday home page, click Pay. (A blue icon of a wallet.)
- 2. Select Payment Elections.
- 3. Click Add.
- 4. In the Account Information section, enter Account Nickname (optional), Routing Transit Number, Bank Name, Bank Identification Code, Account Type and Account Number and click OK.
- 5. You will see a message that your changes have been saved and you will see the new account on the next screen. You can add additional accounts by repeating steps 3 and 4. You can also edit or remove any of your existing accounts.

APPENDIX VIII: HEALTH INSURANCE & HEALTH CARE

Funding Package

Your funding package as a fellow or GA covers your USC-Aetna health insurance premium (including vision care), your Delta Dental premium, and your USC Student Health fee, which allows you to utilize the Engemann Student Health Center as your primary/initial source of health care. You are covered year-round; there is no gap in coverage between academic years as long as you are properly registered.

Accessing Medical Care

Visit USC Student Health Services for non-emergency care. This is where you will receive primary care. Make an appointment online (for both routine medical care and for illness) through the My Student Health Record (MySHR) portal or call 213-740-9355 to speak with a medical professional.

Once you've seen a medical professional at Student Health Services and it is determined that you require additional care, you will be given a referral.

Student Health Services will make every attempt to refer you to a USC Designated Tier 1 Provider; you should verify this, as well.

Accessing Vision Care

Students enrolled in the USC Student Health Insurance Plan automatically have vision coverage through EyeMed.

Accessing Dental Care

Students have dental coverage through Delta Dental PPO.

You can visit any licensed dentist, but will usually pay the lowest out-of-pocket costs when you choose a PPO network dentist.

Covid Testing

Should you need to be tested for Covid, you can pick up antigen testing kits on campus at the USC Bookstore and the Engemann Student Health Center.

The USC Student Health Fee

The health fee covers most medical services at the USC Student Health Center, but there are some additional fees for tests, immunizations, medications, and other services. These additional fees are the student's responsibility and are not covered by your funding package. Please see the Student Health website for various fees.

Bringing an Existing Insurance Plan to Campus

If you have employer-based insurance (through parent/spouse/partner) that meets the minimum requirements of the university, or you would like to consider a separate plan, you may opt to waive the student health insurance plan. To request this waiver, please scroll down on this page and click on the red "Insurance Waiver" button.

If you waive your insurance, please let Sarah know so she can remove your award.

APPENDIX X: USING CONCUR FOR REIMBURSEMENTS

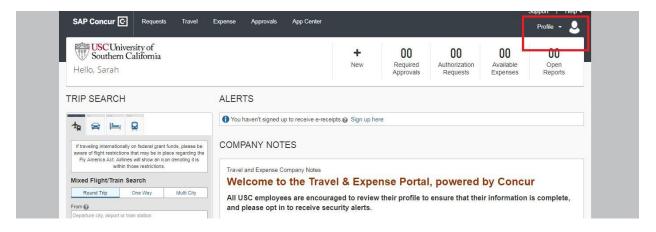

Concur is the online system USC uses for requesting reimbursements for travel and research expenses.

Logging into Concur

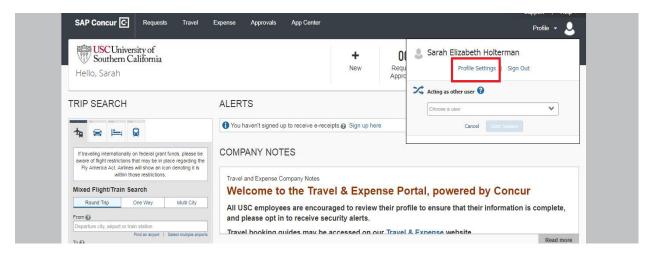

- Go to https://usc.edu/travelportal and sign in using your USC Shibboleth ID.
- This will take you to the Concur home page.

Setting up your Profile

• Click on "Profile" at the top right of the page.

• Click on "Profile Settings"

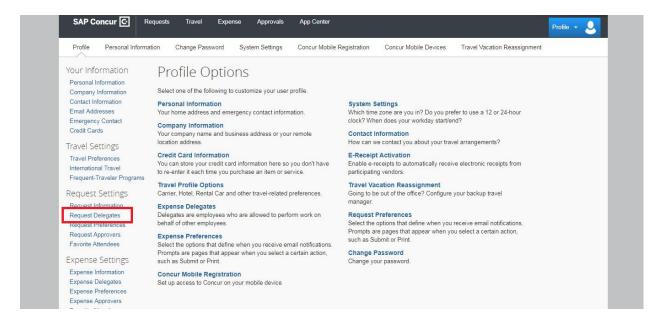

- Fill out all required sections
- Make sure to save once sections are completed!

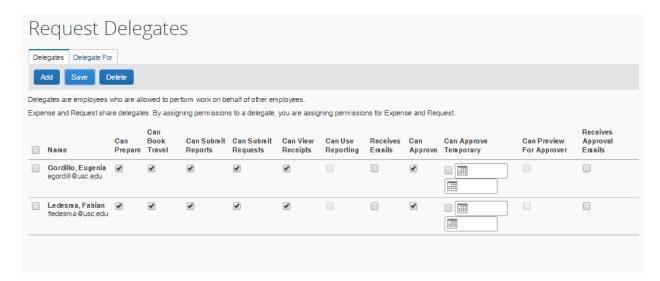

Adding Delegates

A delegate is a USC employee you have designated as an individual who can access Concur reports on your behalf. By adding delegates, Annenberg staff will be able to assist you with your reimbursement requests.

• On the Profile Options page, click "Request Delegates" on the left side of the page.

- Add the following people as delegates:
 - Fabian Ledesma (fledesma@usc.edu)
 - o Vinh Nguyen (vinhn761@usc.edu)
 - Sarah Holterman (holterma@usc.edu)
- Please check all items as seen below when adding delegates:

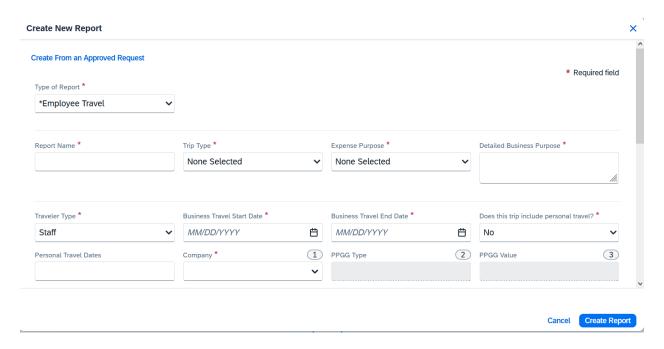

• Click SAVE once you've added the delegates.

Creating a New Report

• On the Concur home page, click on the "NEW" with plus sign.

• Then select "Start a Report." (Make sure to select Report and not Request.)

Follow instructions below for Travel and Non-Travel Reports.

Travel Reports

Type of Report Employee Travel

Report Name Include your last name and type of expense: "Smith NCA 2024

Conference" or "Smith dissertation fieldwork San Francisco"

Trip Type Select domestic or international

Expense Purpose Conferences: "Professional Development/Conference/Training"

Dissertation Travel: "Research Support"

Detailed Business Purpose Enter a short explanation of the expense, such as:

"Traveled to New Orleans, LA to present at the annual NCA conference"

or "Field work in San Francisco, CA for dissertation research"

Traveler Type Student

Business Travel Dates Enter the start and end dates of your trip

Includes Personal Travel? Only choose "yes" here if a portion of the trip within the above dates was personal travel. Choose "no" if you traveled for personal reasons before or after the above dates.

Company This will default to USC. Do not change this.

PPGG Type This box asks what type of funding this is (project, program, gift, grant)

For travel funded by annual travel funds, select PROGRAM

• For travel funded by dissertation funds, select GIFT

PPGG Value This box replaces what used to be called the account.

For travel funded by annual travel funds, search for PG1012752.

• For travel funded by dissertation funds, search for GF1015402.

• TIP: be sure you are searching as CODE not TEXT!

Cost Center The cost center is the umbrella over the various PPGG values.

• Search for CA101439 (Annenberg Doctoral Program)

• TIP: be sure you are searching as CODE not TEXT!

Cost Center Approver The individual who approves the expenses.

• Search for Fabian Ledesma (his numerical code is 0107288)

Claim Travel Allowance Do not check this. Leave "No, I do not want to claim Travel Allowance" selected.

Once you have entered all of these fields, click CREATE REPORT at the bottom right.

Claim Travel Allowance

Do not check this. Leave "No, I do not want to claim Travel Allowance" selected.

Once you have entered all of these fields, click CREATE REPORT at the bottom right.

Adding Expenses to your Report

On the next page, you will be able to enter your individual expenses and receipts.

- Click on the blue ADD EXPENSE button. This will bring up a smaller window.
- Choose the TYPE OF EXPENSE from the list.
- Once you have chosen the type of expense, it will take you to a new page. On this page, complete the requested information, including transaction date, vendor, and amount. Enter the amount of the expense AND attach the receipt image.
- Save the expense.
- Do this for each individual type of expense.
- Upload your approval document. Sarah Holterman will send you the approval memo before you submit.

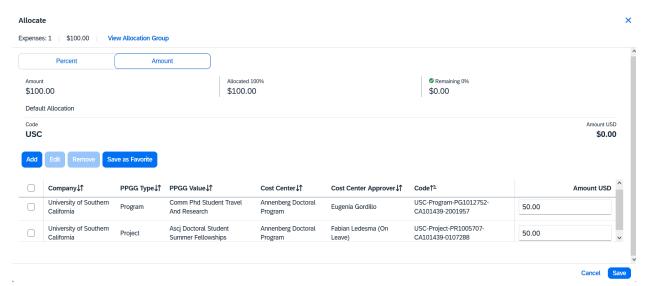

Expenses

Each payment/receipt must be entered as a separate expense. If you've purchased five books in one single Amazon order, that is one expense. But if you've made ten different Amazon orders for books, you will enter ten separate expenses on the report.

Allocating Expenses

If you are asking to be reimbursed from two different accounts, you will need to allocate your expenses.

- Select all expenses—make sure that all boxes are checked.
- Click the blue ALLOCATE button at the top.
- When the new Allocate window pops up, you'll most likely want to switch it to "Amount" rather than "Percent." This will allow you to enter dollar amounts.
- Click the blue ADD button. Use the same process to search for the accounts using code, not text. You will need to add BOTH accounts here:

- Choose the dollar amounts that should be reimbursed from each account. Make sure that the full amount is 100% allocated between the two accounts.
- Click SAVE, which will take you back to your main report page.

Submitting Your Report

Once you have entered all expenses and properly allocated your expenses (if necessary), you will click SUBMIT REPORT at the top right corner of the screen.

The new report will now appear in your Active Reports page.

Troubleshooting Tip

If you're having trouble searching for a PPGG Value or Cost Center, make sure you're searching by Code. The site defaults these searches to Text and the PPGG Value and Cost Center will not come up if you're searching by Code.

Types of Expenses

Expense Purpose

When you create the report, you will be asked to select the purpose of your expense from a dropdown list. For conference travel, select Professional Development/Conference Training. For dissertation research, select Research Support.

Expense Type

For each expense that you enter, you will be asked to select an expense type from a dropdown list. Please be as precise as possible—try not to choose Miscellaneous/Other for anything. A few frequently-used expense types include:

Travel & Transportation Expenses

Airfare Hotel/Lodging Rail/Train

Personal Car Mileage

Mileage – Personal Car

Individual Meals

Breakfast (Meal)
Dinner (Meal)
Lunch (Meal)
Travel Meals – Groceries

Registration & Dues

Conference Registration/Fees Membership Fee

Other

Airline Fees
Booking/Service Fees
Ground Transportation (taxi, ferry, ride-share, etc.)
Medical Expenses (Immunizations, Vaccinations, etc.)
Miscellaneous/Other (only use if absolutely necessary)
Office/Research/Lab Supplies
Participant/Subject Fees
Printing/Photocopying

APPENDIX XI: TIPS FOR SUBMITTING RECEIPTS

Airfare

Your receipt must include:

- Your name
- Name of airline
- Travel itinerary (airports, dates, times)
- Amount paid
- Method of payment
- Date of purchase

Hotels

Please get a receipt from the hotel when you check out. Do not use the initial booking email. Your receipt must include:

- Your name
- Name of hotel or Airbnb
- Location of hotel or Airbnb
- Dates of check-in and check-out
- Amount paid (not a pre-stay estimate from a reservation)
- Breakdown of taxes and fees by day
- Method of payment

Food

If you are taking a photo of the receipt, please make sure the following are visible and legible:

- Name of restaurant or store
- Location of restaurant or store
- Itemized list of dishes/items purchased
- Date of purchase
- Amount paid
- Method of payment

Shared Travel Expenses

If you split any expenses with a colleague, such as lodging or meals, please make sure that you both separately submit reimbursement requests. Please only request your portion of the expense and include the full receipt—i.e., if you shared a meal with one other student that cost $50, upload the receipt confirming full payment but only enter $25 as the amount you are requesting in reimbursement on the Concur expense entry. Include a note on the entry that the meal was split with another student. Both students must upload the original receipt.

Books or other items ordered online

Please make sure that you submit the receipt that indicates your items were SHIPPED or DELIVERED. If you submit an email order notification that does not include confirmation of shipping or delivery, the request will be sent back to you.

Participant/Subject Fees

If you are compensating individuals with gift cards or money, please include an overview of all payments and, if available, include receipts for each payment (i.e., gift card purchase or transfer, Venmo transaction).

APPENDIX XII: INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

First Year

- I-20 New international students will be issued an I-20 by the USC Graduate Admission office.
- Immigration Status Verification International students may not register for their first semester of classes until they have arrived in the US and completed the Immigration Status Verification (ISV) process with OIS.
- ITIN The ITIN (Individual Taxpayer Identification Number) is a nine-digit number issued by the IRS to individuals who are not eligible to obtain a Social Security Number (SSN). The ITIN is used to file taxes and is not a form of work authorization. You will need to apply for an ITIN as a student who receives payment from the university in the form of a check—your first year fellowship stipends. Please see instructions on the OIS website.
- US Bank Account International students should make sure to set up a US bank account prior to their first semester of funding.
- Bachelor's Degree Verification All graduate students must verify that they have been awarded a bachelor's-level degree from an accredited institution in the US or an equivalent degree from an institution outside the US. International degrees must be verified by IERF. The University does not accept verification from any other companies—it must come from IERF. Please follow the instructions found on the Degree Progress website.

Summer After First Year

- International TA Exam International students will be asked to sign up for an International TA exam at the USC American Language Institute (ALI). The exam must be completed prior to the start of your second year.
- Social Security Number (SSN) Before starting employment as a Graduate Assistant in their second year of the program, international students must obtain a Social Security Number. Please follow the application process on the OIS website. Hard copy GA letters will be available for pickup in the Communication School main office—you will be notified during the spring semester.

Change to Domestic Student for US Tax Purposes

- F-1 and J-1 students and their dependents are usually considered Non-Resident Aliens (NRAs) for tax purposes for their first five years in the US.
- After those five years, students generally are considered to be Resident Aliens for tax purposes. This means that their stipends will be paid as if they were domestic students. This is ONLY related to payment processes and does not change a student's immigration or visa status.
- If a student was in the US on an F-1 visa prior to beginning the PhD program, this means that the move from NRA to RA could happen before or during their time at Annenberg.
- For questions on status for tax purposes, contact OIS.

APPENDIX XIII: GRADUATE CERTIFICATES AT USC

Doctoral students at USC may wish to obtain a graduate certificate in a related field in addition to the PhD. Please see individual department websites for more information about requirements and applications for graduate certificate programs.

APPENDIX XV: CAMPUS GROUPS & RESOURCES

Asian Pacific American Student Assembly (APASA)

The center celebrates and shares Asian Pacific Islander Desi American (APIDA) heritage and diversity through leading inclusive campus-wide events, supporting our member organizations and sponsoring cultural events.

https://www.uscapasa.com/

Asian Pacific American Student Services (APASS)

APASS cultivates a space to explore, celebrate, and embrace Asian American and Pacific Islander identifies, heritage, and community. APASS organizes events, workshops and resources related to AAPI identity, culture and leadership.

https://apass.usc.edu/

Black Graduate Student Network

An interdisciplinary student-run organization dedicated to improving the status of students within the African diaspora in higher education by identifying and addressing their needs and concerns through cultural programming, community events, and holding space for social justice-oriented conversations. https://usc-black-graduate-student-network.mailchimpsites.com/

Campus Support & Intervention

USC Campus Support and Intervention is available to assist students with academic concerns; health and wellness needs; basic needs such as financial issues, legal aid, housing, and food insecurity; and crisis and safety. Staff members can help connect you with the right resources for your needs. https://campussupport.usc.edu/

Campus Wellbeing & Education

https://cwe.usc.edu/

CARE-Support Center (CARE-SC)

CARE-SC (formerly RSVP) provides an advocate team for 24/7 response in situations of gender- and power-based harm (including sexual assault, domestic violence, and stalking). All services are confidential and covered through the Student Health Fee. https://sites.usc.edu/clientservices/

24/7 Services

Call 213-740-9355 for 24/7 confidential advocate services, including arranging transportation to a specialized SART center for medical care and forensic exam.

SART/Forensic Exams

A confidential CARE-SC Advocate can arrange free Lyft transportation to a SART (Sexual Assault Response Team) Center for a forensic exam and additional care services, and can go with you.

In the LA County region, there are eight SART Centers. USC works with Santa Monica Rape Treatment Center at UCLA Santa Monica Medical Center. Full list of resources can be found here: https://sites.usc.edu/clientservices/seek-care/sart-forensic-exams/

Center for Black Cultural and Student Affairs (CBCSA)

The Center for Black Cultural and Student Affairs (CBCSA) provides intentional, holistic, scholarly and co-curricular programming designed to strengthen the understanding of Black diasporic heritage. https://cbcsa.usc.edu/

Counseling and Mental Health Services

Counseling and mental health services located on-campus at the Engemann Student Health Center, are available to all students. Virtual workshops and telehealth appointments are available. https://studenthealth.usc.edu/counseling/

Department of Public Safety (DPS)

The University Park Campus DPS emergency line is 213-740-4321 or extension 04321 from an on-campus phone. The non-emergency line is 213-740-6000 or extension 06000 from an on-campus phone. If you sign up for TrojansAlert, you will receive emergency messages via text and email. DPS also provides access to the LiveSafe app, which allows users to initiate contact with emergency responders around both campuses. DPS operates the University's centralized Iost and found service. If you plan to ride a bicycle, scooter, or skateboard on campus, register it for free with DPS. https://dps.usc.edu/

Equity, Equal Opportunity, & Title IX (EEO-TIX)

EEO-TIX manages the University's response to reports of discrimination, harassment, and retaliation involving community members at all of its locations. https://eeotix.usc.edu/

Fitness Centers

All USC students receive free membership when registered for classes. There are two rec centers at the University Park campus: the Lyon Center, which is at the corner of McClintock and W. 34th Street, and the USC Village Fitness Center, which is just north of campus in the USC Village. https://recsports.usc.edu/rec-facilities-page/

Kortschak Center for Learning and Creativity

The mission of the Kortschak Center for Learning and Creativity (KCLC) is to apply and engage in research and training to serve individuals with diverse learning needs and to empower students to reach their full academic and creative potential. https://kortschakcenter.usc.edu/

La CASA

La CASA provides empowerment through cultural identity, leadership and social consciousness development, as well as community building for undergraduate and graduate students at USC. La CASA strives to educate the campus about Latinx issues and the ethnic diversity represented within the community by offering programs and services that focus on intersectionality. https://lacasa.usc.edu/

LGBTQ+ Student Center

The LGBTQ+ Student Center provides support, education advocacy, and community for all undergraduate and graduate students at USC with an emphasis on students across the spectra of gender and sexuality.

https://lgbtqplus.usc.edu/

Los Angeles Times Subscription

As part of USC's sponsorship of the LA Times Festival of Books, all students, faculty and staff are eligible for a free one-year subscription to the LA Times. https://my.usc.edu/los-angeles-times/
