

LOOKING FOR UNDERGRADUATE AND GRADUATE STUDENT RESEARCHERS

The Image of the Journalist in Popular Culture (IJPC), a project of the Norman Lear Center, is embarking on a massive study of the image of the journalist in movies and television programs from 1914 to 2015 and is looking for qualified undergraduate and graduate student researchers to work on the project.

The researchers will be involved in:

*A massive study of the image of the journalist in films and television, 1914 to 2014. Filling out evaluation sheets for each movie or TV program using template created for the study. Title: IJPC Researcher.

If interested, please contact Professor of Journalism Joe Saltzman at saltzman@usc.edu